The Sensation Stories about Cuba Denied.

No Extra Session of Congress to be Called to Consider the Question.

The Number and Character of the President's Appointments.

Classified List of the Nominations Sent to the Senate.

Special Dispatches to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Saturday, April 18.

The enthusiastic Cuban patriots who are now in our principal cities endeavoring to obtain material aid for the revolutionists in the Ever-faithful Isle, may be pardoned for giving currency to rumors calculated to advance their interests; but it is strange that respectable newspapers should circulate these patriotic fictions, which have no foundation in fact. President GRANT has never contemplated (so a member of his Cabinet authorizes me to state) calling an extra session of Congress to consider the Cuban question; nor has our Government any information that an expedition has gone, or is being fitted out, to aid the revolutionists. Mr. PLUMB's instructions have not been prepared, nor has that gentleman, who is a well-trained diplomat, given the slightest grounds for the absurd rumors about what he intends to do when he reaches Cuba as the United States Consul-General. More than all, the recent official information from United States civil and naval officers in Cuba, and on the adjacent waters, agrees in asserting that the revolutionary movements are diminishing in importance, and that a compromise may be expected.

THE REPORTED EXPEDITION TO CUBA.

The dispatch from Savannah, Ga., on the 17th relative to the landing of three expeditions from Florida at Bayamo, Cuba, is believed here to refer to the force which General STEDMAN was organizing in New-Orleans some weeks ago; if so, it does not exceed 800 men, and they were conveyed to Bayamo in an old Confederate blockade runner.

THE SENATE ADJOURNMENT.

A vigorous discussion on the subject of adjournment occurred in Executive Session yesterday. Several Senators insisted that an adjournment could be effected by Tuesday, but the general sentiment seemed to fix on Thursday as the more probable day, though no conclusion was reached. The San Juan boundary treaty is still under discussion, and the Sandwich Islands reciprocity treaty yet remains to be considered. There is some doubt, however, whether it will be taken up at all. The Senate will, without doubt, adjourn by Friday or Saturday of the present week.

ABSTRACT OF NOMINATIONS.

The following is a classified list of the nominations sent to the Senate by the President since the beginning of the Administration. It will be seen that not more than one-half of the offices in the direct gift of the President have yet been filled, and it is probable that there will be more than 200 or 300 additional changes at least until the next session of Congress:

| | |
|---|---|
| Cabinet Officers | 7 |
| Foreign Ministers | 27 |
| Secretaries of Legation | 3 |
| Consuls-General | 6 |
| Consuls | 93 |
| Governors of Territories | 7 |
| Secretaries of Territories | 8 |
| Collectors of Internal Revenue | 104 |
| Assessors | 112 |
| Postmasters | 392 |
| Collectors of Customs | 40 |
| Surveyors of Customs | 13 |
| United States and Territorial Judges | 12 |
| United States Marshals | 25 |
| United States and Territorial District Attorneys | 28 |
| Registers of Land Offices | 33 |
| Receivers of Public Moneys | 26 |
| Pension Agents | 26 |
| Indian Agents | 6 |
| Surveyors General | 9 |
| Naval Officers | 4 |
| Custom-house Appraisers | 8 |
| Superintendent of Indian Affairs | 1 |
| Officers of District of Columbia | 6 |
| Bureau Officers, (including Heads of Bureaus and Secretaries) | 13 |
| Assistant Treasurer | 1 |
| Total | 1,013 |

The above list does not include military and naval appointments.

THE HALE-PERRY CORRESPONDENCE.

The surreptitious publication of the Hale-Perry correspondence is to be investigated by a committee of the Senate. The documents contained in it were confidentially sent from the confidential records of the Spanish Department to our Secretary of State for his private information. The Spanish Government did not intend when it sent the correspondence to this Government that it should be made public, as the difficulties between it and Minister HALE were settled. The Senate called on the President for information on the subject, in answer to which he transmitted the Spanish documents as well as the correspondence between Messrs. HALE and PERRY and Secretary SEWARD, with the understanding that it was a confidential budget, to be read only in Executive Session. Its publication therefore is a direct violation of the obligations of this Government with Spain, as well as of the rules of the Senate.

UNITED STATES MARSHAL FOR LOUISIANA.

Among the confirmations yesterday was that of Hon. S. B. PACKARD, as United States Marshal for Louisiana. Mr. PACKARD has been President of the State Central Committee of the Republican Party of Louisiana ever since its organization, and has been one of the strongest and most efficient workers in the cause of reconstruction. It is the most popular appointment yet made for that State.

MINISTER MOTLEY.

The President has notified Mr. MOTLEY that he expects him to be at his post in London, ready for duty, about the 1st of June. REVERDY JOHNSON will probably visit the Continent before returning home.

BANQUET AT THE BRITISH EMBASSY.

Hon. EDWARD THORNTON, the British Minister, gave a large dinner party last evening. The guests were Chief Justice CHASE, Senators ANTHONY, SUMNER and SHERMAN, Secretaries FISH, BOUTWELL and COX, Attorney-General HOAR and Mr. EVARTS, Mr. MOTLEY, and the French Minister, M. BERTHEMY. Mrs. THORNTON was the only lady present. Secretary FISH and Mr. SUMNER were seated to the immediate right and left of Mr. THORNTON, from which it is argued that the rejection of the Alabama treaty has not caused any ill feeling at the British Legation.

MINISTER TO SPAIN.

Among the leading nominations that hang fire is that of Hon. HENRY S. SANFORD as Minister to Spain. Mr. SUMNER favors his confirmation; but during the week the Committee on Foreign Relations received a note from the President, through his private secretary, requesting that no action be taken on the nomination. Subsequently this note was withdrawn, and the nomination is again before the Committee. It will probably be confirmed if not withdrawn.

GOLD FROM NORTH CAROLINA.

The Director of the Mint, during a recent visit to Charlotte, N. C., obtained specimens of ores from different mines in that vicinity, which were assayed at the Mint in Philadelphia, with the following results: No. 1—Gold, $16 50 per ton. No. 2—Gold, $90 50 per ton; silver, $11 50 per ton.

THE ALABAMA CLAIMS.

The correspondence on the Alabama claims which will be printed in a few weeks, will make ten octavo volumes of 800 pages each, and will cost about $15,000.

FIFTH AUDITOR OF THE TREASURY.

Hon. HENRY D. BARRON, the newly-appointed and confirmed Fifth Auditor of the Treasury, will enter on the discharge of his duties on the 1st proximo.

EWING VS. FULLER.

The plaintiff in the Ewing vs. Fuller judicial proceeding, in this District, is not General THOS. EWING, as erroneously published.

No. 3—Gold, $15; silver, $3 per ton. No. 4—Gold, $90 50; silver, $4 50 per ton. No. 5—Gold, $9 per ton.

MINISTER TO LIBERIA.

J. R. CLAY, of New-Orleans, (colored), was nominated to the Liberian Mission by Senator KELLOGG, of that State; but Mr. CLAY having declined, Senator KELLOGG then secured the nomination of F. E. DUMAS (colored) for that position.

THE NEW ADMINISTRATION.

The [illegible] of the Whole Number Thus Far Made—Errors to be Corrected—Political Considerations—The President and His Cabinet—A Few Suggestions.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Saturday, April 17, 1869.

Thus far the President has sent to the Senate about one thousand nominations. This figure sounds large, but it is, after all, less than 75 per cent. of the whole number of Presidential appointments. It includes, however, nearly 5 per cent. of the most important. This is a large business of the kind to be accomplished in so short a time, and under such a violent pressure, that to arrive at a correct conclusion has been in many cases exceedingly difficult, and in others utterly impossible. Hence some mistakes have been made. But take the whole list thus far appointed, and the verdict must be that it is good,—in many respects excellent. Probably not more than 5 to 10 per cent. will turn out absolutely bad. This is a smaller margin than the Administration of Mr. LINCOLN began with in 1861, and had people been as ready to furnish President GRANT with correct information about candidates in advance of their nomination as they were to decry them after appointed, the percentage of bad appointments would be still smaller. The bad nominations are almost wholly among those whom the President has been pressed to appoint on political considerations. But there is one cheering reflection that the country can confidently indulge in. The President will promptly correct every mistake of this kind that he may have made through the unfair and false representations of others, and he will also mark the persons who deceive him. Indeed, he has already begun this work, and has revoked, for cause, certain appointments made during the past week. One instance will show how promptly he acts. A certain gentleman was nominated for Consul at one of the ports on the Mediterranean. The day the name was sent to the Senate he got gloriously drunk in honor thereof. The next day his appointment was revoked. Another case was where a young man had been nominated for a certain position by a head of a Department, and the President finding, through an instance of which he was personally cognizant, that he was utterly characterless and untruthful, refused to approve the nomination. When the pressure for office ceases—and it has already decreased to a very great extent—and the President has time to go carefully over the whole field, there will be numerous variations from the present programme. Nowhere will the President correct his mistakes more promptly than in the case of political appointments where he accepted the assurances and judgment of others rather than his own. It has been impossible to prevent such considerations from overruling weight in some instances. Gentlemen who belong to this category will need to be especially vigilant in order to prove the wisdom of their selection, and their friends will need to be their bondsmen in a double sense.

As yet the Administration has had no time to do anything but attend to the offices. Neither the President, or the heads of departments, have yet had opportunity to make any impress upon affairs. To listen to hundreds of applicants every day, to hear imperious Senators and Representatives, to examine papers and decide upon the respective merits of candidates, has been the burden of labor upon all. Besides, even if this was not the case, there has not yet been time enough for developments on which to base an estimate for the future. Nevertheless, the President has made a decided impression in two respects, from which hopeful auguries may be drawn for the future. He has done much for the country and the party, in removing the deadlock on reconstruction, and he has laid a broad basis for the party in the character of some of his appointments. His recognition of the right of colored men to hold office, supplies the omission that was thought to seriously impair the vitality of the constitutional amendment on suffrage; and his appointment to office of ex-rebel officers breaks the bounds of prejudice which have walled up the Republican Party, and adds to its strength and power. That much personal disappointment should exist is very natural where so many fail and so few succeed; that it should be provoked into criticism of the appointing power and its motives is also natural, but nevertheless unjust. Let any one take Commissioner DELANO's place for a few days, for instance, and he will soon be convinced that "reforms" are not accomplished by the simple announcement; that time, strength, patient investigation and reflection,—almost impossible for the past few weeks—are all necessary to the introduction of reforms into the public service, and if the office-seekers, particularly members of Congress, ever give the heads of departments time to devote themselves to their administrative duties, the country will certainly see the results hoped for. There are no better business men anywhere, especially in the one great quality of executive capacity, than BOUTWELL, CRESWELL and COX. They are at the head of the three Departments most closely connected with the national prosperity, and their first duty is to purge the public service. This they are doing as rapidly as possible. Errors have probably been made, especially in the Revenue service, by changing some experienced men for others not experienced, but this was inevitable. Although many nominations have been made in this branch of the service, yet scarcely more than half have been touched, and the changes are nearly concluded.

There are, therefore, many reasons why it is yet too early to pronounce judgment upon the work of the Administration—especially is it too soon to say that it is not going to equal expectations.

Presidential Campaign Expenses.

A Washington dispatch to the Boston Journal says: "The Union Republican Congressional Executive Committee has rendered an account of its stewardship during the last political campaign, by which it appears that the amount of cash receipts was $64,206. Of this, New-York contributed $8,399, Massachusetts, $5,105; Ohio, $2,110; New-Hampshire, $1,920; Michigan, $1,887; Pennsylvania, $1,745; Vermont, $1,593; and so down—Maine having given but $630, and Rhode Island but $444. The diplomatic officers abroad contributed $4,492, and large sums were received from postmasters and others holding Federal offices. The expenses of printing and circulating campaign documents was $34,740. Each of the unreconstructed States received about $3,000, and the transportation of voters from here to the State election in Maine, and to the Presidential election in New-York, New-Jersey, and Connecticut, cost $1,623. Other items swelled the entire expenses of the campaign, so far as the National Committee was concerned, to $61,196. The documents distributed were of about fifty different kinds, embracing some in German and in French, and making in all 43,570,400 pages. The whole work was done under the efficient superintendency of Hon. THOS. L. TULLOCK, of New-Hampshire."

Sharp Debate Between Thiers and Rouher on the Empire.

Cardinal Cullen's Advice to the Catholics of Ireland.

The steamship Donau, which left Bremen April 3, and Southampton April 6, reached this port yesterday, bearing two days' later news than was previously at hand.

The day fixed for the celebration of the Queen's birthday has, by Her Majesty's command, been changed from Saturday, May 29, to Wednesday, June 2.

Three more deaths by the colliery explosion had been reported at Wigan, making the total loss to that time 33. An inspection of the mine had strengthened the general conviction that the accident was caused by a "blown out" shot.

Archbishop MANNING has declined to allow memorials, praying for the release of the Fenian prisoners, to be left at the doors of the Moorfields Cathedral for signature. Dr. MANNING holds that it is not possible to allow the Catholic Churches to be used for any but religious purposes. Any political or other petition must be signed elsewhere.

A Dublin dispatch sets forth that on April 3 Lord CLONCURRY committed suicide at his residence, Lyons Castle, County Kildare. His Lordship had been under restraint for some time, having recently twice attempted self-destruction by the most extraordinary means, but on that day he eluded the vigilance of his medical attendant and threw himself from his bedroom window; the result of the injuries he received being that he survived but an hour. The deceased Peer (EDWARD LAWLESS) was the third Baron; was born Sept. 13, 1816, and succeeded his father in 1853. He leaves a widow, ELIZABETH, only daughter of JOHN KIRWAN, of Castle Hacket, and eight children, of whom four are sons and four daughters.

The death of Right Rev. Dr. HYNES, Bishop of Demerara, is announced. The venerable prelate expired at Paris, while on his way to Ireland from Cannes, where he had been spending the Winter.

Some of the Paris journals announce that the Empress EUGENIE is about to pay a visit to Belgium. The visit is believed to have a religious object. Her Majesty is to be accompanied, it is said, by the Prince Imperial.

It has already been stated that the Prince Imperial is universal legatee to the late Princess BACIOCCHI. Among other estates which His Imperial Highness has thus inherited is the Villa Vicentina, an immense property, of from 1,200 to 1,500 hectares, in the environs of Trieste. The director of the Emperor's private domain had just left Paris to visit the estate, in order to decide whether it should be preserved or disposed of.

A mysterious tragedy was causing a great sensation in the neighborhood of the Rue de Tournon, Paris. A loud detonation was recently heard proceeding from the apartment of Commandant THEVET, at the barracks of the Garde de Paris. On the door being forced open that officer was found lying on his bed lifeless, having discharged a pistol into the region of his heart. Near him was standing a lady dressed in her under-clothing only, and who proved to be the wife of a person of high family residing in the neighborhood. The deceased officer was between 40 and 50 years of age, and possessed of considerable property. An investigation was going on, but the affair was still enveloped in great obscurity. The lady, who is aged about 30, had been acquainted with the Commandant for about ten months.

"Advices from Florence," says the Nord, "are unanimous in declaring that the accounts of disorders on different points of the Italian territory have been greatly exaggerated by the journals. MAZZINI is known to have refused his aid, and to have advised his friends to remain quiet. The chiefs of the Revolutionary Party soon acknowledged their powerlessness, and were forced to give way before the resistance with which they met everywhere in the country districts."

On the evening of April 3 General MENABREA gave a banquet at the Ministry of Foreign Affairs in Florence in honor of General MŒRING, at which the Austrian Legation and the Foreign and Cabinet Ministers were present. General MŒRING proposed the health of King VICTOR EMMANUEL. General MENABREA replied, and proposed a toast to the Emperor FRANCIS JOSEPH. The King was to leave for Naples as soon as the railway, at present damaged by the floods, is repaired. His Majesty was to avoid Roman territory, as on a former occasion.

The report of the Committee on the Italian Budget Revenue for 1869 has been distributed among the deputies. The Government's estimate of the total ordinary and extraordinary revenue is 1,084,215,199 lire. This amount is reduced by the Committee to 999,472,619 lire, being still an increase of 219,584,599 over the revenue of 1868. The Committee calculates that the grist tax will produce in 1869 30,000,000 of lire, or 25,000,000 less than the estimate of the Minister of Finance. The Committee anticipate an increase of 1,200,000 lire in the receipts from the registration tax, 4,000,000 lire in tobacco revenue, and 2,000,000 in the revenue derived from salt. The estimated total deficit for 1869 is 74,710,874 lire. A report had been issued of the progress of the works for the Mont Cenis Railway up to the 31st March. The length of tunnel excavated was 9,522 metres, there remaining still 2,697 metres.

A communication from Rome in the Gazette du Midi, says that a very touching ceremony took place in that city on St. Joseph's Day. The Prince and Princess of Schauenburg-Lippe abjured Protestantism in the presence of the Cardinal DE REISACH. They had both formed separately the project of conversion to the Catholic faith, but had not ventured to repose confidence in each other. Thus their surprise was great when the same avowal issued from their lips. Rumor says that the mother of the Princess, arrived in Rome to dissuade her daughter from accomplishing the conversion in question, was about to make an abjuration in her turn.

An Alexandria dispatch states that on April 2 a timely discovery was made of an attempt to assassinate the Viceroy. An explosive machine, with a powder-train leading to the door, and attached by a tube to the gas-pipe, was found under the seat of the viceregal box in the theatre at Cairo. The Viceroy was apprised of the projected attempt on his life, and stayed away. The perpetrators were unknown, but several persons had been arrested on suspicion. His Highness had received the congratulations of the foreign Ministers and Egyptian functionaries on his escape.

Letters had been received at Gotha from the German discoverer, CARL MAUCH, who is making an exploring expedition in Southern Africa. The letters are dated Nov. 29, 1868, and announce that CARL MAUCH has accomplished a very important journey, although he had encountered great dangers. He started northwards on the 8th of May from the Potchefs River, and arrived at Inyati on the 18th of October, having explored countries which have never been traversed by Europeans. From this point he intends this April to endeavor to penetrate northwards as far as the Equator.

A Menindie (Australia) letter, of Jan. 18, published in the Adelaide Observer, says: "It is rumored that 14,000 out of 18,000 sheep of Mr. VALENTINE's have perished from want of water on their way to the Darling from his run back from Wilcannia. Another January rain is required to make the back runs worth having. We hear of sheep dying in hundreds in those back runs, and in a few weeks it is thought that many squatters will be forced to abandon their runs altogether."

ENGLAND AND AMERICA.

The New American Minister—British Comments and Speculations.

From the London Times, April 6.

It is stated on good authority that Mr. JOHN LOTHROP MOTLEY is to be the Minister of the United States in England. The recall of Mr. REVERDY JOHNSON has long been looked upon as certain, not only because incoming Presidents generally use freely their power of making new appointments, but because he is, justly or otherwise, out of favor with the Republican Party, and his chief work—the Convention with Great Britain on the Alabama claims—is looked upon as definitely set aside. Mr. MOTLEY will come to a country which he knows, and where he is well known. He is no stranger in Europe, like many of the home-bred political men of the United States, who first form a real acquaintance with the Old World when they visit it in an official capacity. Mr. MOTLEY's feelings toward England are, no doubt, those of most educated Americans. A man in whom the historical sentiment is strong, and a large part of whose life has been spent in investigating the past, can hardly fail to be in some sort well-disposed to the old country. This tendency is naturally strengthened by a knowledge of English society, and the remembrance of many cordial friendships. Mr. MOTLEY's reputation as a distinguished man of letters, no less than his diplomatic position, will insure him a hearty welcome in this country; nor is there any type of Minister whom we would receive more gladly than the historian and the scholar. Mr. MOTLEY, however, would be the first to admit that in him we must recognize one who has decided opinions on the matters in dispute between us and the Americans. Whatever may be his social or his historical prepossessions, he is, as far as actual politics are concerned, a thorough representative of the Northern Republicans. As the intentions of President GRANT's Government are as yet a secret, even if any have been formed, it is useless to speculate upon the turn of affairs. The Convention which has been concluded between the two countries awaits the decision of the new President and of the Senate, which have not yet formally decided on it. Supposing it to be set aside, and negotiations to be renewed at some future time, we may expect to find in Mr. MOTLEY an earnest and uncompromising supporter of the opinions which are said to be dominant among his countrymen. In the matter of the Alabama claims his principles and conduct are not likely to be alloyed by any weakness for us.

We have nothing to complain of in this, and are, indeed, disposed to prefer dealing with a nation through a Minister who represents its prevailing impulses. Such a man may be more harsh and exacting in a negotiation, but when the business is concluded there is at least the satisfaction that it is likely to prove a real settlement. In other respects Mr. MOTLEY will probably prove a Minister of an order very unlike Mr. REVERDY JOHNSON. We shall lose a genial and indefatigable speechmaker, but shall gain, in exchange, a gentleman who will be understood on both sides of the ocean to say only what the great mass of his countrymen really mean. The change is not of much importance to us, but, to judge from the feeling that has been manifested in America, the substitution of Mr. MOTLEY for the present Minister is likely to soothe a large portion of the public which has been irritated by Mr. REVERDY JOHNSON's exuberant oratory. Strange to say, the speeches of Mr. REVERDY JOHNSON, and the good understanding he has established with our various hospitable municipalities, have been resented by some Americans, as if they involved some fault on our part. Nothing can be more unreasonable. Mr. REVERDY JOHNSON was appointed at a time when an important question was pending between the two nations, and he gave us to understand that he was specially chosen to settle it. Lord RUSSELL and Mr. ADAMS had been too much engaged in the mutual complaints and recriminations of the war to approach the subject favorably. Lord RUSSELL went out of office; Mr. ADAMS returned home; a new Foreign Secretary and a new American Minister had opportunities their predecessors had not enjoyed. This being the state of things, Mr. REVERDY JOHNSON took occasion, even before leaving America, to express the good will toward England which animated himself and with which he credited his own countrymen. On arriving in England he used the same language, and spoke in the name of the American people with a warmth which was naturally reciprocated by his audience. Of course, we are sorry to find that in so doing he mistook the feeling of his countrymen toward us; but that we should listen to what he said, and be gratified by it, is surely no fault of ours. The impressionable Minister naturally had in this country of public dinners numerous opportunities of repeating his friendly sentiments, and the ubiquitous reporter recorded them all, even the most improvised and spontaneous. Where we were amused the Americans were angry, and the result has been certainly unfortunate. Mr. REVERDY JOHNSON, however, notwithstanding his complimentary speeches, appears to have been active enough in his diplomatic work, and to have fulfilled all the instructions of his Government. He concluded a Convention, in which everything the United States could reasonably demand was conceded by us—a Convention, indeed, that imposed on us possible liabilities which many thought we ought not to have accepted. Principally because of the unpopularity of the agent, this Convention has been ill received in the United States, and is now said to have been virtually rejected. It is plain that an United States Minister in this country may be too fair-spoken, and that for practical purposes it is better to deal with a more faithful though a less acceptable representative of American opinion.

It is a great thing, however, to feel ourselves demonstrably in the right. This country has gone to the extreme of concession in the matter of the Alabama claims. It has agreed to refer everything except its own honor to arbitration, and to the judgment of a mixed commission. It has agreed to give Americans who profess to have been wronged every opportunity to assert their claims by providing that the commission shall hold its sittings at Washington. Except absolute submission to every demand the Americans may choose to make, there is nothing further that could have been conceded. The Convention in which all this is stipulated has been the work of their own Minister and their own Secretary of State, and has received the assent of their own President. If they now set it aside, our duty will simply be to abstain altogether from further overtures, and let any proposal for a renewal of negotiations proceed from the American Government. As for that downright demand for payment which our Philadelphia correspondent describes as being advocated in the United States, this country would, of course, know how to treat it; but we have not the smallest belief that President GRANT's Government contemplates a course of action so unfriendly and offensive. It is more likely that, assuming the present Convention to be set aside, Mr. MOTLEY will be instructed to open the negotiations for another, differing somewhat in machinery, but embodying similar principles. Should this be the case, our Government will be ready to give the proposals a fair consideration. Should it, on the other hand, be the desire of the Americans to keep the question still unsettled, the British nation, having fully manifested its good disposition, will not feel bound, however, to initiate fresh negotiations. In any case we shall welcome Mr. MOTLEY, not only as an old friend, but as one who has the confidence of a really powerful Executive and of the most powerful political party in the United States.

Lord Stanley on the International Relations.

On Friday, April 2, Lord STANLEY spoke at Glasgow. A summary of his remarks has already been given. The following is a verbatim report of his reference to the relations of the two countries:

I own that notwithstanding the failure of the late negotiations—that it is a failure there is no denying, but it is a failure, I think, which was not caused either by anything done or by anything left undone upon our side of the water. Notwithstanding that, I say, I don't think I can bring myself to take a gloomy view of those relations. Certainly, if we were to judge by the utterances of some American journals, and by those which have been attributed, justly or unjustly, to some transatlantic politicians, it might seem that our friends on the other side of the ocean were not very easy to please. But in the first place I do not know that any one has spoken of late on their behalf who was authorized to speak authoritatively on the part of the nation; and, in the next place, I think we should recollect and allow for the very peculiar position in which they stand. They have had a great military success—a success unexampled in its way—and they are finding out now practically, what we had an opportunity of finding out just half a century ago, that military glory, even when acquired in the best of all possible causes, is a very expensive luxury. They used to pride themselves—and they could do it quite justly—upon their freedom from debt, upon their comparative immunity from taxation, and upon the peaceable manner in which all internal disputes among themselves were settled. Now, it has so turned out that they have a debt which, measured by the interest paid upon it, is heavier than that of the United Kingdom; that they have taxation which, although it is nothing in comparison to the resources which in the long run they can command, still for the present is probably more burdensome than ours; and that they have had to deal with a great military insurrection and to put it down in precisely the same manner—I don't blame them for it, I think they were quite right—but to put down in precisely the same manner as it would have been put down by any Government of the Old World. Now, I have no doubt that, notwithstanding the military glory they have acquired, there is a great deal in those circumstances which may be annoying, and when people are annoyed, no matter from what cause, they are apt to be more than usually sensitive. But, for my part, I have very great faith in the good sense of the American people. I do not think that they can wish to increase their difficulties by getting into fresh quarrels. As for our part, it seemed to me plain and clear from the first, and it seems to me plain and clear now. There has never been any question upon our side of offering reparation for willful and intentional wrong, because we do not admit, and we have no right to admit, that any such wrong ever was committed by us. But what we have all along in substance said is this, that international law being vague, and many new points of international law having arisen in connection with the events of the late war, it was quite possible that upon either side, or upon both sides, in the absence of precedents to guide us, acts of unintentional wrong might have been done and that the question whether they had been or not was one which we were perfectly ready to refer to the judgment of any impartial arbiter. That is in substance the language we have held throughout, and whether it leads to an immediate settlement of the matters in dispute or not seems to me, although I may startle some persons by saying it—a matter of very secondary importance. Whatever happens in that respect, we have secured the main point. We shall have satisfied our own consciences, and we shall have put our country unmistakably in the right.

THE FRENCH EMPIRE.

Important and Interesting Debate on the Budget in the Legislative Body—The Political Situation Reviewed by M. Thiers and by Minister Rouher.

On April 2 the French Budget was debated upon in the Legislative Body, and highly important speeches were made by M. THIERS and by Minister ROUHER. We translate them in full:

SPEECH OF M. THIERS.

M. THIERS first took the floor. He said: Gentlemen, you will not be surprised if at the outset of a financial discussion I propose to speak to you about politics. In fact, several interpellations on the general situation of our affairs were rejected two months back on the ground that they would be better placed in the discussion of the Budget; I therefore shall now take the present opportunity for examining the state of the country. And first, under our constitution, said to be susceptible of being made more perfect, have we made any progress? Yes; our debates are freer; all the Ministers are in their seats, when formerly we had but one before us, and the liberty of the Press is greater. To refuse to admit these improvements would be to show injustice to the Government, the majority, and to ourselves, inasmuch as we have all contributed to that result. But the real question is whether, in making such steps in advance, we have not taken as many in a retrograde direction. Before entering on this inquiry, I wish to say a few words relative to the policy which ought to be followed in France. There is no temerity in affirming that we are divided into different parties, taking their origin from the Revolution of 1789; were we to forget that fact we should soon be reminded of it by the recriminations directed by the defenders of the Government against the partisans of past dynasties. But I have often asked myself whether there might not be a possibility of finding some common ground, some legitimate object, in accordance with the wishes of the country, in which we might all meet and come to an agreement. There exist several grave questions about which nations differ; there are others, on the contrary, which command universal adhesion. For example, on no point has there been so much controversy as that of standing armies. In the United States that institution is justly repudiated; the difficulties which that country has to surmount come from nature and not from man, and it is laborers that are wanted, and not soldiers. But turn to Prussia, young, vigorous and impatient; she would receive only with disdain any recommendation given her to disarm. Look now at the commercial systems. America, possessing the finest raw material on the face of the globe, establishes prohibitive tariffs and sneers at free trade. England, on the contrary, who opens her own ports in order to get a large market in other countries, laughs at those who talk to her about protection. It is the same with regard to moral questions; take that which has been the most agitated in our time—I mean the relations between Church and State; propose it to America, Spain, Italy, Prussia, or Sweden, and you will get a hundred different replies. But if you turn aside from all these discrepancies, attached, so to say, to the idiosyncracy of each particular country, and ask a question of a more general nature, such as that relative to the conditions under which a nation is or is not free, you will find a marvelous accord in the answer. You will be everywhere told that, for a country to be free, all citizens must enjoy the most absolute personal liberty, whatever may be their opinions; must be allowed to inform themselves, by means of the Press, on all matters of public interest; must have the power of choosing their own representatives without being exposed to the menaces or seductions of power. Moreover, the Deputies, once chosen, must be well acquainted with the state of the country, and must be able to enforce their will by a vote of the majority. Lastly, the action of the Government itself must be nothing more than the feeling of the nation carried into execution. These principles are absolutely essential, and we have a proof of that fact in the downfall of the Governments that have not put them in practice, as seen recently in Spain. In Italy, efforts have been made to propagate them; Austria is deriving from them a renewed vitality; whereas Prussia has sought to extinguish them in a blaze of military glory, without success. In America they are everywhere admitted; at Washington in the Republican form, and at Rio Janeiro in the monarchical. Lastly, in France herself the same principles were solemnly consecrated by the will of the populations in 1789. I come now to inquire how far we enjoy at the present day the liberties and immunities which I have thus described. And first, I may ask why the law of public safety has again been put in vigor? A public functionary has gone so far as to tax with imprudence and want of foresight a tribunal.

M. BAROCHE—Those expressions were not used.

M. GIROT-POUZOL—I was present and heard them. It was affirmed that the Judges at Clermont had been unintelligent and unforeseeing.

M. BAROCHE—I repeat that those words were not pronounced.

M. JULES FAVRE—You have promoted the Magistrate from whose lips that language proceeded.

M. BAROCHE—Yes; but on account of his services and talents.

M. PICARD—You have caused a surveillance to be exercised on a Judge in open Court.

M. BAROCHE—I protest with all my force against that accusation. I have always respected the independence of the Bench.

M. PICARD—The Judges themselves accuse you.

M. BAROCHE—On the contrary, the whole Bench has protested against the charge now repeated.

The PRESIDENT—This interruption has lasted too long. I beg M. THIERS to continue.

M. THIERS—As those expressions are repudiated let me admit that they were not used. I come now to the liberty of the Press. Here there has been some progress; as preliminary authorization, suspension and arbitrary suppression have disappeared. But for all these you have substituted prosecutions; and these last are tantamount to an open war.

M. DE FORCADE LA ROQUETTE—No; they are only means of defence.

M. THIERS—What is the relation to be most desired between the Government and the Press? Peace, of course. But how to obtain it? That, indeed, is the question. The consummation, however, has been attained in Belgium and England. But how? By letting people write anything they please. In that way you will succeed in making the Press publish only what is proper. Such is the conclusion I draw from my long experience. Doubtless, there ought to be some law of repression in case of outrage to public morals, attacks on private character, or insults addressed to the Sovereign. But the law in question should be perfectly simple, and should contain as few articles as possible. And if there must be such a measure there must also be something to act as judge and decide, and only one can be found competent to the task—I mean the jury, the general opinion of the day pronouncing judgment in isolated opinions. But a better course would be never to have recourse to the tribunals save in the last extremity. As to electoral liberty, in my opinion, we do not possess it. The Minister of the Interior in our last sitting drew a comparison between the number of electors in England and France. But mere numerical force does not constitute independence. Besides, the universal suffrage which you practice is under strict control. And how do you direct it? Not being able to do so in the towns, you swamp it in the rural districts. Oh, I admit the merit of our populations in the country districts. They have honest hearts and minds; they have stalwart limbs to plow the land and, if necessary, to defend it. But they have not the same means of instruction as the populations of the towns.

M. ROUHER—It is necessary to erase them.

M. THIERS—No; but neither must those of the towns be struck out. What use have you made of the law of electoral circumscriptions? You employ it to annul the vote of some by that of others, to drown the voice of the towns in that of the rural districts. When France was divided into departments and arrondissements the populations were grouped around certain centres to which they were united by their interests. You have destroyed that arrangement; you have crushed the towns, and scattered the fragments to the extremities of the departments. In the Bouches-du-Rhone you have made Marseilles vote with Aix at a distance of ten leagues, and with the villages on the Durance at eighteen; in the Gard, Nimes with Aiguesmortes at eleven; and Pont-Saint-Esprit at seventeen; and in the Gironde, Bordeaux with the right bank of the river, some of the population being sixteen and others twenty-four leagues distant. And the motive of this dispersion is, I repeat, to destroy the suffrages of the towns which you cannot direct by those of the country which are under your control. In adopting universal suffrage you wished to go to the people and let them vote in their communes instead of troubling them to come to the chief place of the department or arrondissement, and yet that is what they constantly do for the markets or to see the juge de paix; and the derangement would only have taken place once in six years. But no, you must go to them. Be it so. But why two days' voting? During that period in whose hands does the ballot-box remain? Are you quite sure it remains closed? I should wish the Ministers to declare that whenever there is not a closed box on which the electors can place their seals, there will be a violation of the law. According to your system the votes remain in your hands for two days. You make out the electoral lists, and your salaried agents carry to the voters, with their card, the bulletin of such and such a candidate. You are armed with the immense resources of centralization; do you or do you not make use of them?

M. DE FORCADE LA ROQUETTE—I ask permission not to reply at present to these interrogations, which seem to me not to be in conformity with parliamentary usages. I shall answer them as becomes the Government when the proper time arrives.

M. THIERS—Nothing is more natural than thus to draw a reply from the Government. In any free country the high authorities ought always to be ready to answer unless they declare that they have a great interest in not doing so.

M. DE FORCADE LA ROQUETTE—No doubt M. THIERS has a right to put a question to the Government, and to endeavor to make the most of its silence. But he will understand that on my side I refused to fall into what I shall call a parliamentary snare. Every one knows the respect I entertain for M. THIERS' talent and age; but, as the Emperor's Minister, I have also my duties. Moreover, I remember that, under similar circumstances, M. GUIZOT replied one day to the honorable Deputy that the Government was always the master to answer in the form which it considered most advisable.

M. THIERS—The situation, I believe, was not the same. I can comprehend that the Government would be embarrassed in answering yes or no. I foresaw the difficulty, and your refusal is more expressive than your embarrassment.

M. DE FORCADE LA ROQUETTE—I shall reply, be assured.

M. THIERS—We shall see, and the country will judge. Against such an electoral system the opposition has no resource but its activity and the faculty of holding meetings. Well, these latter, private or public, are absolutely prevented during the last days of the electoral period, at the very moment when they are most necessary to guard against surprises or calumnies. I arrive at the liberty of Parliament, and by that term I understand the surest and readiest means of knowing the state of the country. Well, have we the right of nominating the President and Vice-Presidents of this Assembly? What other country in the world does not possess that privilege, and the right of amending the laws? A legislative body ought not to be forced simply to accept or reject a measure. And parliamentary initiative? What assembly is there which has not at least the faculty of expressing a wish? And the right of watching over the Government? Of asking, for example, why troops are being collected on such a point, &c.? In any free country a Deputy rises and puts the question to the Government. If the latter is ready it replies, and the matter is discussed. If not, it obtains a delay, but at all events the Parliament judge of the opportunity of the debate. With how many formalities is the right of interpellation surrounded among us! The Crown ought to be in connection with the Parliament by means of the address. Every year there is a speech from the Throne, but it is not answered. Why? Is it because but slight importance is attached to the language? That is an outrage. Is it because when the Crown has spoken all must be silent? That is an insult to the nation. Well, suppose all those liberties were obtained, they would be useless, if not dangerous without one last and most important security—ministerial responsibility. What has become of that liability? It has been reduced to its most simple expression; in past times it was terrible—it had the scaffold for consequence in the sixteenth century—perpetual imprisonment under LOUIS XIV.—exile in the eighteenth; whereas, at present the Minister is told, "You have managed badly—resign!" Can it be further reduced? In America it is applied to the President; in Europe it cannot fall on the Sovereign, and therefore the depositories of his power are responsible. But we are told that the ruler—who cannot be changed—is answerable, and not the Ministers. I know the ground I am treading on is delicate.

A VOICE—Those questions cannot be discussed.

The PRESIDENT—I have allowed M. THIERS all possible latitude, but I cannot permit him to go any further in such a line of argument.

M. THIERS—I know how difficult it is to discuss the question which I am touching on, and I should not have approached it had I not considered it of great interest both for the country and the Crown. My observations, moreover, in no way effect the Constitution, as a simple decree would suffice. Responsibility once established, results most useful for the nation would be obtained. Two great parties would be formed, the one in power and the one destined to succeed to office, and on each side the various members would become classified according to their aptitudes and their merits, and be trained to one day guide the affairs of the nation. But we are told that the Crown is annulled by this system! What! the great interests of the country and the sovereignty of the nation are to be sacrificed to royalty! We have seen the most ancient, the proudest, the most powerful dynasties overthrown for that very cause. Does the Queen of England seem to you a nonentity? See what is passing in that country on the grand question of the Irish Church. The Crown desired the debate to take place in Parliament. The House was inclined to suppression. Royalty understood its duty, and instead of deciding the matter, as it might have done, it appealed to the country; it gave the Ministry a dissolution, and when the people had pronounced, it called to power those who had gained the victory. The sovereignty of the nation is a great security, and the consequence is that in England there are Radicals, but not one Republican. In France, on the contrary, the latter are numerous and redoubtable. But we are told that the system has been tried here and did not succeed. The argument is certainly a strong one, but is that a reason to deny the advantages of the system which I advocate? When to public opinion is opposed, instead of the pliable barrier of Ministerial responsibility, the inflexible rock of royalty, the waves of the national will, like those of the sea, rise, and the moment arrives when, with the current, tide, and wind aiding, the rock is washed away and the nation submerged. How avoid seeing the great lessons contained in events? What! because a part of the responsibility is attached to the person of the Sovereign, that fact sufficed to lose him his crown! What shall we say to those who wish that the whole liabilities should rest on a Sovereign?

M. ROUHER—For a length of time M. THIERS has been violating the Constitution.

M. GARNIER-PAGES—You discussed it in the Senate.

M. ROUHER—If we discuss the Constitution every day, we may as well declare the revolution in permanence.

M. THIERS—It is not we who decree the revolution, but you who are preparing it.

M. BAROCHE—You have arrived at predicting the overthrow, after having abdicated your past career.

M. THIERS—If the honorable Minister wishes to recall my reminiscences and his own, I believe that mine will bear the comparison.

M. BAROCHE—If I had to speak of LOUIS PHILIPPE, I should not allude to a King who died in exile, as M. THIERS has just done.

THE PRESIDENT—I must remind M. THIERS that he cannot speak thus of the Constitution. If he continues I shall be obliged to call him to order.

M. THIERS—I shall not expose myself to such a rebuke. I reply to the Minister of Justice, that to the Prince to whom he refers I have given a proof of respect not often paid to a Sovereign. I withdrew altogether from political existence in order not to serve two masters. (Movement.) The questions on which I touched have been discussed by the Minister of State in the Senate. They are daily agitated in the Press and in the other Chamber; but we alone are not allowed to treat them. I admit that they have an exceptional gravity; but I speak for the country, which, in demanding liberty, is only asking for what is right. The moment is a critical one. What part will France take in future events? If I could give a counsel, it would be to preserve peace, unless forced by intolerable enterprises to draw the sword. But the country alone should have the right of deciding on so important a resolution. France must not be exposed, on rising some fine morning, to see her children receive orders to march to the frontier. Thus, liberty at this moment means the power of the nation to decide on peace or war. To do so is its right, and the dearest interest of its existence.

REMARKS OF MINISTER ROUHER.

M. ROUHER said: I rise with a deep feeling of sadness. During the last six years that I have taken part in your labors I have seen the liberties of the country increased, the influence of the Legislature extended, and each day marked by some new progress; and yet now, in the last moments of the session, a discussion is raised on our fundamental institutions and the bases of authority, as if we were the day after a revolution and had a Constitution to make. Are we to sweep away prosperous institutions for the sake of some Utopian ideas which have been dearly paid by two successive revolutions? But you deny the progress attained; you say that the country has no liberty, whether individual, of the Press, electoral or parliamentary. But let us see. Who has developed personal freedom and restricted the rigor of former legislations relative to imprisonment for debt, and preventive imprisonment? Who but the Chamber and the Government? There remains, it is true, the law of 1858 on manœuvres tending to excite hatred and contempt of the authorities; but compare it with article 91 of the Penal Code as applied when M. THIERS was in power. And liberty of the Press? The honorable gentleman thinks that the journals ought to be allowed to say what they please. I do not know whether he is right, but such was not always his opinion, for had he formerly thought so, the law of 1835 would never have taken place. There may, however, be some shade of truth in what he says. Much patience, and often much disdain, must be observed toward the Press, and journals should not always be prosecuted; but the Government cannot, by abandoning the law, abolish the guarantees which the Chamber has constituted in the interests of society. M. THIERS has spoken of the right of meeting, but did not this assembly vote the bill to permit public assemblages, whereas he passed the law of 1834 which forbade the people to concert together for any purpose whatever? He also fears that the ballot-boxes may be tampered with at elections; but can he suppose that any one, by violating the seals, would expose himself to a severe punishment? When a man arrives at such a degree of mistrust of his fellows and of institutions he ceases to be an impartial judge and does not deserve to be listened to by the country. The honorable Deputy pretends that universal suffrage is not free, and, in order to justify that theory, alleges that the votes of the urban populations are swamped by those of the rural districts. The Constitution declares that the departments should be divided by fractions of 35,000 electors; how, therefore, would you prevent the towns being a secondary element when they represent only ten millions of inhabitants, while the country parts contain twenty-six millions? The Government has no wish to create categories, it desires to appeal to the entire nation without distinction of place of residence between landowners and workmen, or between the industrial and agricultural populations, for to all it can address a frank and sincere language. To the middle and wealthier classes which represent the intelligence of the nation it can say: Yes, you have a capricious temper and a national inclination for criticism, but we do not contest your legitimate desire to control. Only have confidence in the Government which has always advanced in a career of progress, and do not hurry forward before the road has been well prepared. The new liberties we have accorded are now being used as offensive arms against our institutions. Let me add that the more intelligent classes of the departments are already becoming tired of the Liberal ardor manifested here, because they perceive your revolutionary hopes. We say to the workmen, we do not ask from you an ephemeral popularity; we are no socialists, improvised under the pressure of interpellation; but we have always practised the rules of justice, the laws of equity, and the principles of equality. As to the agricultural masses—ah! they excite your uneasiness. They have preserved in their hearts the legendary worship of NAPOLEON. You argue that they overpower the intelligence of the towns! No! but they form a counterpoise, by the austerity of their lives, by their sentiment of duty, and by their attachment to the rights of property. They are twenty-six or twenty-eight millions of men who have not espoused the anger of the towns, who judge the Government with impartiality, and who will not fail us on the day of voting. We do not wish to control universal suffrage; we desire only to enlighten it, by eliminating those captious individualities which accuse the rural districts of ignorance in order to throw into relief the population of the towns. To each class we employ the truth—that is our only arm. We do not make such electoral promises as the suppression of octrois, or the abolition of permanent armies, with the view of poisoning the source of universal suffrage. Yes, to speak of such projects in the actual state of Europe and the present financial necessities, is to commit a culpable act or an immense absurdity. Thus, universal suffrage is free, and yet this is said not to be an independent parliament. But have you not always the last word? Has the Government paralyzed your rights? Can you not always adopt an amendment or throw out an article? Then parliamentary liberty is complete. I must have forgotten in this rapid reply many of the points touched on by M. THIERS, but when I look around me I say that the Government has done more for the progress of liberty than any other régime. Then let us continue to labor for the prosperity of the country. The future will acknowledge that we were honest men; and when you, gentlemen, shall reappear before your electors, they will understand on which side are reason and progress.

THE IRISH CHURCH.

Cardinal Cullen's Advice to the Irish Catholics.

Cardinal CULLEN has issued a long pastoral on the subject of the Pope's difficulties and claims upon the sympathy of the Catholics. At the close he makes the following reference to Ireland:

Most important measures are now pending before the Legislature. If the great and wise statesmen now at the head of affairs carry them successfully through both Houses of Parliament, we may hope that a new era of peace and prosperity will dawn upon Ireland, and that our past sorrows and afflictions soon will be forgotten. However, we should not put too much trust in human power or wisdom; the best considered undertakings of man are frequently defeated, and in the present case private interests undoubtedly will be preferred by men of influence to the public welfare, and those who have long enjoyed the enormous wealth of the Establishment and the advantages of ascendency will offer a most obstinate resistance to the changes now proposed, though conformable to justice and calculated to confer great benefits on the country. Indeed, the votaries of ascendency are threatening everything violent if their monopoly be interfered with, and they are so foolish and fanatical as to declare that they, in their own defence, will oppose the Imperial Government or kick the Queen's crown into the Boyne. However, we should not be over-anxious about success, or too much desirous of temporal happiness and prosperity in this world. Such things are of ten times turned to a bad account by those who enjoy them, while poverty, privations, sufferings generally make men virtuous, and prepare them for happiness in the regions of eternal bliss. Ireland suffered a great deal in times past. Should we repine? Certainly not. Though we lost everything temporal, we retained the true faith, the most precious of all treasures. That faith, working through charity, has sent millions of our persecuted brethren to people the kingdom of God. Nor have we been left without earthly rewards; our country has acquired a high name among the nations of the earth, not, indeed, for power, or wealth, or commerce, but for the firmness of her faith, and for her unshaken devotion to the Catholic Church. One of the most distinguished orators of this empire (Mr. BRIGHT) in a late speech, makes some remarks most flattering and most encouraging to our country. Having described the failure among us of the Established Church—the doctrines of which were forced on us by fire and sword, by confiscation and penal laws—he says that "Ireland is more Catholic at this moment than it has ever been before," and he adds "that it is more Roman than any other Catholic country in Europe. What is more," he continues, "from Ireland has come to England whatever there is of power that belongs to the Papal system in this country, and from Ireland has overflowed and settled on the continent of America a very great and Catholic interest." The facts thus stated constitute the greatest privilege of this island of saints. Let us endeavor to preserve this glory acquired for us by our fathers. To do so we must have recourse to the protection of Heaven; for, unless God keeps the house, in vain do they watch who keep it. Above all, we must be devotedly attached to the one true Church, obedient children to the Apostolic See, and always anxious to sanctify ourselves by prayer and good works. The peace of our Lord be with you.

Your faithful servant,

†PAUL CARD. CULLEN.

DUBLIN, March 29.

Attempted Robbery of an Express Car.

From the Selma (Ala.) Times, April 15.

We learn from Mr. MILLS, mail agent, that a daring attempt was made to rob the express car on the Selma, Rome and Dalton Railroad, on Sunday night. About 12 o'clock at night, at a station a few miles beyond Rome, while the train was stopped to take on water, a party of men succeeded in detaching the express car, which was in the rear of the train, and were only waiting for the train to move on to commence their work of robbery. Fortunately, the noise made by the robbers attracted the attention of those on the train, and the alarm was given, when the bold robbers took to the woods without having secured any booty.

GENERAL CANBY.—We learn that Governor WELLS, who has just returned from Washington, reports that General CANBY will be stopped in Washington when he arrives there and sent out on the commission to be appointed to examine the Pacific Railroad. If this should be done, he will not come here for two or three months. In the mean time General WEBB will remain in command.—Richmond Examiner, April 17.

MONDAY, April 19—A. M.

The Trade and Money affairs of the past week show a very decided improvement on the state of business of the previous fortnight, which was more or less unfavorably affected by the dearness of Money and the difficulty of negotiating ordinary and even fair Merchant paper on any reasonable terms for the borrower. During this stringency, the Brokers of the Stock Exchange, including some of the heaviest buyers of the Public Funds, openly bought their Money in the market, on the best terms they could make, which were frequently equivalent to ⅛@½ of one ₱ cent. a day additional to the ordinary interest of 7 ₱ cent. per annum. And they found their profit in it, in the end, as the extraordinary spectacle was presented, of a stubborn rise in the Funds and the Railways while the most extravagant rates known on the Street for six months past, were being paid to carry on the speculation. It was supposed by many parties on the Street, that following out this seeming "rule of contraries," Stocks might go down with the lower price of Money, but when the latter was fairly brought down to 7 ₱ cent. simple interest, near the close of the week, it was found that a new lease had been taken on the upward speculation of the Exchange, and the closing quotations of Saturday show an advance of 1@1½ ₱ cent. on the Public Funds, and from 2 to 3 ₱ cent. on most of the Railways, (and in the case of Rock Island 8 ₱ cent.,) over the last figures of the previous week.

The importations continue heavy, particularly in General Foreign Merchandize, embracing the articles of Sugar, Coffee, Tea, Metals, &c., to the consumption of which, by the country, there seems to be no limit, as affected by high duties. A considerable portion of the current entries, however, pass into bond, so that in April, as in March, the amounts actually marketed, and upon which Customs are paid, will prove several millions less than the apparent importations. The Customs, at the same time, continue ahead of last season, and notwithstanding the offers of the Secretary of the Treasury to prepay both his May and July Gold Interest, the accumulation of Gold, in the New-York Office, for the fortnight, is $4,088,000, and the Gold averages of the City Banks have run down about $3,000,000, and now stand nearly nine millions lower than this time last Spring. The next average, however, will probably show an improvement, from the effect of the receipts of $2,498,000 from England and France, and the increase of interest payments by the Treasury. The speculators in the Gold Room have availed of the advantage of the comparatively light supply outside the Treasury, and the apparent purpose of the Secretary to make no other immediate disposition of his large surplus than to prepay his Interest, to make at least one close "corner," and are supposed to be preparing for another before the bulk of the May Interest is called for. The same parties appear to have what is sometimes called a "grape-vine telegraph" to the inmost recesses and secrets of the Cabinet at Washington on our foreign relations, and a "war" with Spain about Cuba, or a "difficulty" with England about the pirate Alabama is a daily occurrence on Broad-street or in the Gold Room.

In the line of Domestic Exports, a fair return for the week is made at this port, while from the Cotton ports of the South about 35,000 bales of that staple went direct to Great Britain and the Continent. These shipments and the Exchange made here against U. S. 5-20s and other Stocks, have kept the supply of Foreign Bills, notwithstanding large current settlements for Foreign Merchandise, and the receipt of two and a half millions of gold largely ahead of the demand, so that the rate on London is still about 2 ₱ cent. below the point which would call for a resumption of outward Specie shipments.

An event of the week, rather out of the ordinary course of the Railway interest, was the appearance of the official report of the Gould-Fisk administration of the Erie Road for the Railway year, ending 30th September, 1868. The results, taken in connection with the more recent admission of Mr. GOULD to the Legislature that $20,000,000—at one time as much as $23,000,000—had been added to the Common Stock since the regular return made to the State Engineer, may well constitute and be pronounced, in the words of the Financial Chronicle, "one of the most extraordinary transactions ever witnessed in financial circles." The question presented by the figures now before the public, and which is of especial interest to the Stock and unsecured £ Bondholders and which may become vital also to the common creditors on current bills and accounts payable, is, "Where has all the Money gone?" Compared with the previous annual report, (and adding the last 200,000 new Shares, for which about $8,000,000 in cash is supposed to have been received last October and November,) the following changes are remarkable:

|---|---|
| 1. Increase of Common Stock | $21,191,000 |
| 2. Increase of Bills Payable | 1,232,470 |
| 3. Increase of £ Bonds | 968,880 |
| 4. Gross Traffic $14,376,872, an increase of | 59,659 |
| 5. Preferred Dividends withheld | 597,583 |
| Making a total of | $24,209,592 |
| Add new stock since report | 20,000,000 |
| Grand total | $44,209,592 |

Although the following explanations are not all apparent on the face of the report, they reduce this vast sum of forty-four millions, added in a single year to the Stock and Debt of the Company, to something nearly represented by the discounts of from 30 to 60 ₱ cent. on the sales of the new stock, and by the mysterious figures of $12,502,898 in "Cash and Cash items," which, from subsequent occurrences appear to have been wholly unavailable—although no doubt in somebody's hands or represented by sort of traps—either for the liquidation of $6,237,326 "Accounts payable," or to arrest the further issue of $20,000,000 Common Capital at 40 cents on the dollar.

| | |
|---|---|
| 1. From the increase of common stock | $21,191,000 |
| Deduct the Drew hypothecation | 5,800,000 |
| Leaving new issues | $15,391,000 |
| Sold at about 30 per cent. discount | 4,617,300 |
| And yielding in cash about | $10,773,700 |
| 2. To the increase of floating debt | $1,392,470 |
| Add proceeds of Drew stock at 60 per cent | 3,480,000 |
| Making actual difference | $4,873,470 |
| This item stood in report of 1867 | $4,844,856 |
| And included debt to Drew | 3,480,000 |
| Leaving accounts payable | $1,364,856 |
| And in the present report they stand | 6,237,326 |
| Increase, as above, of floating debt | $4,873,470 |
| Less increase of accounts receivable | 2,089,380 |
| Balance | $2,834,090 |
| 3. From the increase of £ bonds | $968,880 |
| Deduct discount in London, say | 322,960 |
| Probable cash realized | $645,920 |

| | 1867. | 1868. |
|---|---|---|
| 4. Gross traffic | $14,317,213 | $14,376,872 |
| Expenses | 10,311,217 | 11,132,289 |
| Net | $4,005,996 | $3,244,583 |
| Interest, rents and taxes | 2,965,412 | 3,221,911 |
| For dividends | $1,040,584 | $22,672 |

From the foregoing it would appear that the new administration of the Road received

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| In Cash for Stock and Bonds about | | $11,429,602 |
| And they made a net addition to floating debt of | | 2,834,090 |
| And are supposed to have received difference between 60 ₱ cent. and 70 ₱ cent. on $5,800,000 in settlement with Drew | | 580,000 |
| And since the report for 200,000 new shares | | 8,000,000 |
| Together | | $22,833,710 |
| Against which they profess to have spent on Road and Equipment | $7,238,836 | |
| And to have increased their Cash items from $1,110,624 in 1867 to $12,502,898 in 1868 | 11,392,274 | |
| Buffalo and Bradford Road | 1,200,000 | |
| Lake Erie steamers | 300,000 | |
| Added to Stock of supplies | 644,000 | |
| | | 20,775,110 |
| Difference | | $2,058,600 |

The figures for new Road and Equipment, so large in amount for a single year as $7,238,836, seem, from a close examination of the Report, quite as mysterious as the $12,502,898 Cash and Cash items. It would be some satisfaction, no doubt, to the Stockholders of both classes, whose hopes of Dividend have been rendered almost if not quite desperate, and to the unsecured £ Bondholders, who are in peril of being made the next victims, to know that any such sum had been honestly or judiciously spent on the improvement of the property, or that there is anything in the way of new roadway or new equipment to show for a reasonable part of it. But, according to the Report itself, only 14 miles have been added to the track; that the same 371 locomotives figure in 1867 and in 1868; that the 190 passenger cars of 1867 are reduced to 187, and the 450 emigrant and baggage cars of 1867 are reduced to 300, while the additions to the inferior equipment amount to about 600, box, cattle, platform and coal cars.

The weekly averages of the Associated Local and National Banks in the Clearing-house of this City, for the week ending Saturday last, April 17, compare as follows with the previous week and with the corresponding week last year; to which we add the specie and currency balances in the New-York office of the United States Treasury at these dates, respectively:

The Bank Statement published to-day exhibits the following relative strength of the movement, in the point of lawful Money Security, to the previous statement. The Banks owed:

| | Apr. 10, '69. | Apr. 17, '69. | Apr. 18, '68. |
|---|---|---|---|
| On deposits | $171,495,580 | $172,203,494 | $181,832,523 |

| They held: In Gold and Greenbacks | 57,439,275 | 58,813,067 | 67,610,302 |
| Excess | $6,163,040 | $7,153,001 | $13,597,526 |

The sales of Gold Saturday were 133⅛@½ ₱ cent. through the forenoon; the market steady, and the Cash Gold for prompt delivery working easily. Late in the day the sales advanced to 133⅜@133½ ₱ cent., and the closing transactions were indicative of a firmer confidence on the part of the speculative buyers for the rise. No special cause beyond this feeling was assigned for the stiffness of the Gold Room at the close of business. The Foreign Exchanges were steady on the basis of 107¾@108 ₱ cent. for 60-day Bankers' Bills on London. The Treasury Office received for the week, for Gold Customs, $2,450,028, and paid out for Gold Interest $655,084. The receipts of Gold from England on Monday and Thursday amount to $1,400,000. The Banks lose on their Gold averages of the week $982,764. They gain $2,356,556 in Greenbacks, and on their general line of Deposits $707,914. The Loans and Discounts are $2,295,345 lower than on last Monday; though this contraction has probably been turned in the last day or two, as some of the large Banks are now moderately free lenders, on call, owing to their recuperation in Country Bank balances and the partial return of Greenbacks from the interior of this State and from Pennsylvania and other quarters. The Money market of the week closed at 7 ₱ cent. Currency Interest as the rule of the Street.

In addition to the above-mentioned $1,400,000 in Gold from England, the steamer Allemannia, from Havre, delivered the following sums on Saturday:

|---|---|
| To A. Belmont & Co. | $690,000 |
| To A. Goettel & Co. | 375,000 |
| To Rutter & Boun | 33,900 |
| Total | $1,098,900 |

The Import Entries for the past week, including the Dry Goods return in our last paper, amount to $7,558,167, against the total entries of $4,660,449 same week last year. The Export Clearances of Domestic Produce amount to $3,617,388, against $4,731,689 same week last yaer. The export of Specie amounts to $68,575, against $1,625,498 same week last year. The Customs of the week are $2,450,028. The receipts of Cotton, coastwise and by railroad, are 5,979 bales. The number of emigrant passengers arrived during the week, 4,793.

The Gold values of the Import Entries of Foreign Merchandise, at New-York, since July 1, 1868, are as follows, the figures being official to April 1, and since semi-official from the Custom-house—the entries of Foreign Specie being omitted:

"The report of the officers of the Michigan Southern and Northern Indiana Railroad for the year ending Feb. 28, 1869, is just out. It shows this fine road to be in a very satisfactory condition. The directors report the following figures for the past two years:

| | Feb. 28, 1869. | Feb. 29, 1868. |
|---|---|---|
| From freight | $3,024,612 | $2,725,249 |
| From passengers | 1,723,816 | 1,689,107 |
| From mails | 53,780 | 54,745 |
| From express | 138,874 | 186,588 |
| From rents | 23,764 | 22,772 |
| From all other sources | 59,220 | 68,866 |
| Total | $5,024,108 | $4,747,219 |

| Increase in gross earnings | | $276,889 |
| Increase in operating expenses | | 111,691 |
| Increase in net earnings | | 165,198 |

The Board congratulates the stockholders on the results of the year's operations, which show both the largest gross and the largest net earnings of any year in the history of the road, as well as upon having reached the point so long looked forward to, when in all human probability regular dividends upon both classes of the stock are assured.

After paying running expenses, taxes, interest on all bonds, ten per cent. dividend on guaranteed eight per cent. on common stock and the Government tax thereon, the year's contribution of $162,000 to the sinking fund, there is a surplus of $50,835 88.

A large outlay has been made for land in Chicago, for the purpose of removing the main track from Clark-street, and the principal part of the line between Twelfth and Twenty-second streets has been secured. The Board propose to erect a large freight-house and an engine-house in Chicago this year. The assets of the road are stated at $22,113,053.

The rolling stock of the road consists of 101 locomotives, 116 passenger cars of all sorts, and 1,576 freight cars."

NAVAL STORES—The Naval Store trade unanimously agreed to-day to hold the daily business session at the Merchants' Exchange, Pine-street, at the same hour as the Petroleum trade, namely, from noon to 1 o'clock P. M. This is a move in the right direction. If the representatives of both these important interests could be induced to agree on a little earlier hour for the daily session, say from 11:30 A. M. to 12:30 P. M., we feel assured that it would be found even more generally satisfactory....Business at the Exchange was quite dull, as a rule, to-day. Spirits Turpentine was weaker in price, and not in much request. A lot of 400 bbls. merchantable was said to have been offered at 48c., while job lots were bringing 49c. ₱ gallon, the sales at the latter rate amounting to some 200 bbls., all told. The receipts were liberal, amounting to 779 bbls. In Crude Turpentine no business was transacted, and only 45 bbls. were received. In Tar the dealings were unimportant, and prices were somewhat irregular, with receipts reported of 2,617 bbls. Pitch was quiet and nominal, no sales having been reported, while 114 bbls. arrived. Resins were generally held with firmness, though the demand was not active. The current quotation for Strained Resin was $2 50 ₱ 280 lbs. A sale of 1,000 bbls. was reported at $2 47½ ₱ 280 lbs. No important movements were noted in the better grades of Resin.

PETROLEUM—There was a much more general and satisfactory attendance of the trade at the 'Merchants' Exchange to-day. The dealings, however, were on a restricted scale, owing partly to the increasing firmness of holders, particularly of refined, for which there were bidders at 32½c., while 33c. was asked for Standard White here, ₱ gallon. For forward delivery, there were sales reported of 2,500 bbls. for April at 32½c.; and 500 bbls. for May at 33½c. for Standard White, ₱ gallon; also in Philadelphia, 500 bbls. on the spot, 32c.; and 1,500 bbls., for April delivery, 32½c. ₱ gallon. The receipts of refined here were 1,219 bbls.; and at Philadelphia 1,580 bbls. Crude has been inactive and irregular, with bids for immediate delivery ranging from 16½c.@17c. ₱ gallon. There were no arrivals of Crude here; at Philadelphia 315 bbls. were received. Barreled Crude was quiet, and quoted nominal at about 22c. ₱ gallon. NAPHTHA was wholly nominal in price at 9c.@9½c., in bulk, ₱ gallon.

PROVISIONS—Pork has been very quiet and quoted lower. Sales have been reported of 700 bbls., in lots, at $30 75@$30 81, closing at $30 75 for New Mess; $30 75 for Old Mess; $28 50@$29 for Western Prime Mess; $30 25@$30 50 for Thin Mess; and $26@$26 25 for Prime and Extra Prime, ₱ bbl. Cut Meats have been in slack demand at unchanged prices; sales equal to 175 packages, at 16c.@16½c. for Dry Salted and Pickled Hams, and 12¾c.@13¼c. for Shoulders, ₱ lb. Bacon continues inactive yet firm; sales of 85 boxes, including Cumberland at 16¼c.@16½c., and Short Rib, 16¼c.@16½c., ₱ lb. Lard is in limited request at drooping prices; sales have been reported since our last of 600 tierces and bbls. at 17½c.@19c. for Poor to very Choice, chiefly at 18½c. for City, and 18¾c. for Prime Western Steam, ₱ lb. Beef rules very quiet at $11@$16 for Plain Mess; $12@$18 for Extra Mess, and $8@$11 for inferior grades of barreled Mess Beef; sales reported, 125 bbls. Tierce Beef is quite dull, including New Prime Mess at $23@$28; Indian Mess at $26@$33 ₱ tierce; sales 140 tierces. Beef Hams continue in moderate demand at $26@$32 ₱ bbl.; sales 225 bbls. Butter and Cheese rule quiet. We quote:

SUGARS—A much livelier inquiry has been noted for raw Sugars, especially for refining grades, which have been very freely purchased by refiners, who are finding a readier and more satisfactory market for the product of their refineries, particularly the low and medium grades. Prices have been well maintained, the markets closing buoyantly, and slightly in favor of sellers. Sales have been reported of 3,150 hhd., Cuba and Porto Rico at from 11c.@13c., chiefly at 11½c.@12c. for refining grades of Cuba, 12½c.@13c. for grocery grades of Cuba, and 12c.@12¾c. for Porto Rico; also, 82 boxes damaged Havana at at 11¾c. ₱ lb. The latter guarantee being indorsed by the Issue restricted to $1,700,000 on the entire road, which is equal to about $15,000 per mile. This road is now approaching its completion; it traverses a rich and populous district in the State of Indiana, and will soon constitute an important link in the Trunk Line, extending from the Atlantic cities to the Southwest, via Cairo.

The intrinsic value of the road itself, combined with the guarantee of four other important railroad companies, one of which ranks financially among the strongest railroad corporations in the world, render these bonds among the safest investments on the market.

We confidently recommend them as a most desirable security for parties investing for themselves or in trust for others.

Also, Shares in the Capital Stock of said Railway Company, on which Six per Cent. per annum and one-half the net earnings of the road, in excess of that amount, is guaranteed to the holders in perpetuity by the same railroad corporations.

NOTICE TO BONDHOLDERS.—The new seven per cent. Bonds of this Company, having 30 years to run, are now ready for exchange with such holders of those falling due 10th July next as may wish to do so. The coupons are payable 10th July and 10th January. These bonds will be a first and only mortgage on the railroad of this Company, which has been completed and in full operation for many years from this city to Northampton, and earning beyond the expenses and interest on its bonds a fair dividend to its stockholders. The Company registers the bonds in the name of the holder when desired, and all transfers can be registered, thus guarding against loss by fire or robbery. No security offered to the public can be more perfect. A limited amount of these bonds is offered for sale at par and accrued interest, and, as the tax is paid by the Company, they are not taxable to the holders in this State. Non-resident holders are requested to notify the Company of their places of residence and amount held, in order that they may be provided for. FIRE DEPARTMENT.—THE TREASURER of the EXEMPT FIREMEN BENEVOLENT FUND, with much pleasure acknowledges the receipt of $5,466 61, by the hands of Alonzo Slote, Esq., Treasurer of the Firemen's Ball Committee, being the net proceeds of the fortieth annual ball, given at the Academy of Music Jan. 25, 1869, in aid of the Widow and Orphan Fund of the late Volunteer Fire Department.

JOHN S. GILES, Treasurer.

It has again become the pleasing duty of the Treasurer to acknowledge the receipt of the proceeds of the annual ball in aid of the Widow and Orphan Fund of the late Volunteer Fire Department. To the Ball Committee for their untiring assiduity and excellent management that made the annual ball of the charity one of the most attractive entertainments in the festivities of the past season, our warmest thanks are due, and the handsome manner that our fellow-citizens responded to the efforts of the Committee affords much pleasure to the friends of the charity. Although the Volunteer Fire Department has ceased to exist as an active and working organization, it is most gratifying to know that our fellow-citizens still cherish a lively and generous recollection of the services and sacrifices they so cheerfully and gratuitously rendered. Many of whom entered the Department in the bloom and vigor of manhood, with bright hopes of the future, alas! ne'er to be realized. They have passed away, and bequeathed to us the cherished objects of their lives—their widows and orphans, of whom 400 of the former and 700 of the latter, claim our care and sympathy.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

EUROPE.

The Government gained a complete victory, in the English House of Commons, on Saturday, upon the question of Irish Church Disestablishment, and in opposition to Mr. DISRAELI's amendment which proposed completely to eviscerate the bill introduced for that object.

There was a stormy discussion upon commercial affairs in the French Legislative Chamber on Saturday, in the course of which M. THIERS said political liberty in France was a farce.

It is now rumored that the French troops are to be withdrawn from Rome in June next.

The miners are on strike, and making riotous demonstrations in parts of Belgium.

There is great activity in the construction of gunboats in Spain, for service in the Cuban waters.

Two additional candidates for the Spanish Crown are mentioned—Prince FREDERICK CHARLES of Prussia and the Duke of LUXEMBOURG.

CUBA.

It is reported that sundry expeditions from Florida had arrived at Bayamo. Our Washington correspondent, in noticing this rumor, says it probably refers to an expedition which General STEEDMAN was understood to be organizing, and which numbered at the furthest about six hundred men. The volunteers have at length arrived from Spain, and were greeted with immense enthusiasm on landing. Two negroes among the crowd of spectators, venturing to cry "Viva CESPEDES," were instantly killed.

MEXICO.

Dates from the City of Mexico to the 10th inst. have been received. The session of the Mexican Congress was opened on the 1st inst. The speech of President JUAREZ was unimportant. The speech of Señor LOMUS, the Speaker of the House, animadverted severely upon the course of the Mexican journals, and the public, in attributing personal motives to the members of Congress, on account of their action there. He declared such charges unfounded and insulting. The following laws have been submitted to Congress: To levy a tax upon mines; to substitute stamps for stamped paper; to abolish custom duties in the interior; to tax arable lands; to issue $18,000,000 in paper currency. Charges have been preferred in Congress against the Minister of War for his action in the Puebla and Yucatan affairs, which are said to have been cowardly assassinations. Colonel CABALLOS, who commanded during the disturbances in Yucatan, has also been indicted. The American Colonel MAYERS is still held in prison. LERDO DE TEJADA declares that he is kept in jail purposely, as he affords a fine opportunity to snub Americans in the treatment of one of their countrymen. The Sonora revolutionists, it was expected, would declare in favor of the annexation of Mexico to the United States. The reports of a quarrel between Minister ROSECRANS and President JUAREZ are unfounded. A general crisis in the affairs of the Government is imminent. The revolution in Sinaloa is increasing.

GENERAL.

JOSEPH JOHNSON, of Lee County, Va., was killed near Walnut Hill, in Powell's Valley, on Wednesday of last week, by JAMES and REDMAN COLSTON, who fired ten balls into him. This dreadful homicide was the result of an affray. Mr. JOHNSON leaves a wife and two children. His father was killed by bushwhackers at Bean Station, Tenn., some two or three years ago.

The Chicago Presbytery, Old School, adjourned on Saturday, after a two days' session, at Morris, Ill., adopted resolutions in favor of reunion with the New branch of the same Church.

At a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of New-Orleans, on Saturday, a Special Committee reported in favor of organizing a Grain Association, with a capital of $200,000. Directors and officers will be elected as soon as $50,000 shall have been subscribed, $10,000 of which was subscribed. A Committee was appointed to call on the banks and insurance companies, and ascertain if they would coöperate by advancing on warehouse receipts. Two bank presidents present signified their readiness to aid the movement. The meeting adjourned to Wednesday night next.

In the Massachusetts Senate Saturday, THOMAS DREW was again arraigned, in custody of the Sergeant-at-Arms, and persisting in his refusal to be sworn as a witness before the Joint Special Committee appointed to investigate certain charges against certain railway companies, for improperly influencing the legislation, an order passed committing him (DREW) to the Suffolk Jail for twenty-five days, unless, in the meantime, he assents to the requirements of the Committee.

The British ship Queen of the Age, from Yokohama, via New-York, went ashore at 3:30 o'clock Saturday morning, between Nasett and Highland Light, Cape Cod. It is expected she will be got off without much damage, assistance having been sent to her. She has on board 10,000 packages of tea.

An employe of the Worcester and Nashua Railroad, named CLARK, was crushed to death Saturday morning while shackling cars in the freight yard in Worcester, Mass.

The funeral of Colonel CHAS. O. ROGERS, late proprietor of the Boston Journal, occurred in that city yesterday afternoon.

The Adjutant-General's Office, Military Division of Missouri, is to be removed to Chicago to-day.

A gang of very efficient shoplifters, consisting of three men and one woman, has been arrested in Albany, and the list of their victims occupies a considerable space in the Albany journals. The operations of the thieves seemed to have been chiefly devoted to shoe dealers, booksellers and venders of fancy goods. There were enough shoes found at their lodging place to establish a first-class store. It appeared that the woman arrested was an active agent in many of the thefts. In the shoe stores she engaged the attention of the clerks while a man with her did the stealing. At some stores all four of the persons were present at a time, though apparently acting as two parties.

The defaulting Treasurer of Schoharie County, N. Y., has not yet returned; and prior to absconding, it is said, disposed of all his own property. The Supervisors have been authorized by the Comptroller to raise the amount of the bonds of the officer, but it is guessed that he will not respond to the requisition. The amount of the deficit is stated to be about $50,000.

Mr. CHARLES A. DANA, to whom was offered the New-York Appraisership, has declined the appointment.

Commissioners from New-York surveyed the Suspension Bridge at Cincinnati, on Saturday, with a view to get plans for a similar bridge over the East River.

A desperate affray occurred in a saloon at the corner of West and Spring streets at 1 A. M. yesterday, in which a man named JAMES NELSON was stabbed. It is doubtful whether he will recover, and Coroner FLYNN took his ante-mortem statement and other testimony, which went to show that he was stabbed by WM. MAHER.

JOHN DUNN was arrested at 3 A. M. yesterday at the corner of Eighteenth-street and Fourth-avenue, where, it is charged, he had just committed a highway robbery. WM. H. DOWNING, the complainant, says the accused took $75 from him.

ISAAC HATCH, a colored boy, shot another boy named JAS. MADISON with a pistol, in this City, on Saturday, and was arrested while running through Laurens-street. HATCH, who is a bootblack, is held to answer.

At the Produce Exchange on Saturday, the talk was almost exclusively about the missing warehouseman, and his reported fraudulent practices. Breadstuffs and Provisions attracted little attention, though prices generally favored buyers. Business in Cotton was light, and prices were rather weaker. In Groceries the feature was the marked activity in Sugars, particularly in refining grades, at full and buoyant prices. At the Merchants' Exchange a very moderate business was transacted in Petroleum, which was generally held with firmness; and in Naval Stores, which were irregular in price. Both the Petroleum and Naval-Store trades will henceforward hold their daily business session at the Exchange, from noon to 1 o'clock P. M. The Freight market was very quiet.

Official Dishonesty no Bar to Promotion in Office.

A good many curious and questionable things have been done in the matter of appointments to office, during the last five weeks:—but the most curious and the most questionable of them all is the appointment by the President, with the advice and consent of the Senate, of JAMES M. ASHLEY to be Governor of Montana. We do not refer to his action on impeachment, to his repeated public assertions that he was in possession of proof that ANDREW JOHNSON was an accomplice in LINCOLN's assassination, assertions which he sought to sustain by subornation of perjury, but which proved to be utterly false; or to any of his political acts concerning which there can be doubt or honest difference of opinion.

But the records of the House of Representatives contain abundant evidence of his public corruption,—of venality, voluntary and confessed, in high office; and if there be any pretence of official virtue left in the Government, that we should think should prevent his being appointed to still higher office by an Administration which came into power under the most solemn pledges of reforming abuses and making integrity the supreme law of the Government.

Eight years ago Mr. ASHLEY did all in his power to have a man named CASE appointed Surveyor of a Western Territory, and himself made Chairman of the Committee on Territories in the House of Representatives. His object and purpose in this was to give CASE the best possible opportunity to speculate in town lots,—promising to aid him in so doing by keeping him advised of whatever the House Committee on Territories might do to make such speculation pecuniarily profitable, and exacting in return one-half of all the money which might be made by these joint speculations. He demanded to be made a full partner with CASE in his speculations, and for this promised to put in as his share of the capital, all the knowledge and all the aid which his official position as Chairman of the Committee on Territories might give him.

These facts were not matters of rumor. They did not rest on hear-say testimony. They were established by ASHLEY's letters to CASE; the propositions were distinctly made, in his own handwriting and under his own signature; and the whole correspondence, which was as clear and definite as words could make it, was drawn out and put before Congress and spread upon its printed records, by a committee of the House of Representatives, appointed to investigate the subject. A motion made at the time to punish, or at least censure, Mr. ASHLEY for his part in this matter, was defeated on the ground that there was no proof that he had ever received any money under the corrupt partnership which he sought to form; and the whole transaction went into the inside history of the practical workings of our political system.

But, setting aside all question of punishment, why should this man, thus branded, thus officially convicted of the highest crime a public man can commit,—an attempt to sell his official power for money,—convicted of corruption and venality in office,—why should he be put into still higher office and given still better opportunities for repeating his offence? We can understand how General GRANT, knowing nothing of his past history, and yielding to the pressure of the members of Congress and other politicians, who, acting as usual without the slightest sense of responsibility or the slightest regard for the public honor, urged his appointment,—should have sent in his nomination. But we cannot understand why, when all the facts were made public, he did not instantly withdraw it: nor why, with the record of these facts before them, the Senate, even by a majority of one, should have given its "advice and consent" to such an appointment. His confirmation was strongly urged by Senator SUMNER and others, on the ground of ASHLEY's party services, and on such base and miserable pretexts the thing was carried through!

The Senate has thus deliberately sanctioned the doctrine that integrity of character,—honesty in office and in the discharge of official duty,—is not essential to official position,—that it is not necessary in order to receive an appointment by the President "by and with the advice and consent of the Senate." One vote would have averted this disgrace from the Senate, from the Administration and from the Republican Party; but that one vote was not to be had. The old motto that "all is fair in politics," was bad enough; but the new rule established by the Senate, that official crime may be cloaked or atoned for by political service, is a trifle worse.

The State Canals—Tolls and Management.

The report submitted to the Canal Board by its Committee forbids the expectation of any material reduction in the rates of toll. The argument mainly relied upon in justification of this conclusion is derived from the charges fastened upon the canal revenues by the Constitution. These charges the Committee say, will for a time "more than absorb the entire net earnings;" and, as the canal is already burdened with traffic to the full extent of its capacity, any immediate and large reduction is pronounced impossible.

Some of the statements advanced by the Committee we are unable to reconcile with the previously published report of the Auditor of the Canal Department. Thus the Committee represent the surplus revenues of last year as less by nearly three-quarters of a million "than the amount necessary to meet the demands for the current year." The Auditor, on the contrary, exultingly announces "that the surplus revenues of the canals are sufficient to pay the balance of the canal debt of 1846, satisfy the other requirements of the Constitution, and contribute over $127,000 to defray the necessary expenses of the Government." The same official shows, however, that past deficiencies, together with other advances for which the canal revenues are liable, amount to more than fifteen millions, which must be repaid "whenever it can be done consistently with the just rights of the creditors holding the canal debt." It is insisted, therefore, that any change which would have the effect of diminishing the canal revenues is inadmissible, so long as the constitutional liabilities of the canals remain undischarged.

But the Canal Board's report does more than assign reasons for not materially disturbing the tolls. While admitting the expediency of reduction at some remote period, it urges considerations which suggest doubts as to the zeal or judgment of the Board in protecting and promoting the great interests under its care. The fact that, despite high tolls, the business of the canals constantly increases, is adduced as proof that no just cause of complaint exists. The Board, indeed, seems to deem itself bound to care for other than canal interests. The remark that "it is neither possible nor desirable that the canals should engross all the carrying business within the State, and successfully prevent all competing rates and means of traffic," is disingenuous enough to have proceeded from the President of the Erie Railroad, who would have the Erie Canal closed as a useless ditch. Equally unworthy is the attempt of the Committee to excuse high tolls by a reference to the extortionate rates of the Buffalo elevators. The business men of that city have at last realized the injury it suffers from the greed of those who control the elevators, and relief is promised in the season now begun. To maintain, as this report maintains, that "commerce is not crippled nor trade diverted by State dues, so long as it can and does pay exorbitant profits to those engaged in it," is to ignore the testimony of the mercantile community. The "exorbitant profits" of a few Buffalo merchants are worthless as an indication upon the subject. Whether the Canal Board is aware of it or not, Western commerce is crippled, and Western trade is diverted by the dues imposed upon traffic through the canals.

The indifference of the Canal Board and the Legislature to the losses consequent upon the present canal policy is pregnant with injury to this City and the State. The whole management is thriftless and bad. The contract system, as applied to repairs, not only entails great waste, but interferes with the efficiency of the canals. A better system would save money for the State Treasury and prevent the delays and losses of which the grain trade every year complains. It were unreasonable, perhaps, to expect suggestions for reform from the Board; its apparent inability to comprehend the necessities of trade, and the permanent damage with which the State is menaced by the dissatisfied West, is the best evidence of the insufficiency of the system of which the Board is the head.

With the Legislature the case is worse. It perpetuates a policy that blends inefficiency with corruption, and disregards appeals emanating from the business experience of the State. Railroad jobbers have all the attention they want. Nothing they suggest is too infamous to be sanctioned. Fraud and monopoly have but to pay for privileges to obtain them. The canals, meanwhile, are neglected. Their inadequate capacity and their heavy tolls operate unfavorably, and even jeopardize the commercial supremacy of the State; but the Albany law-givers are content. They neither correct abuses that are notorious, nor evince any regard for wants that have been proclaimed year after year, or heed the demands of a section which will be ultimately compelled to adopt other routes to the seaboard. The interests now paramount at Albany are antagonistic to an energetic and liberal canal policy. The worse canal management is, the better it is for the game of the Erie speculators; the higher canal rates are the more easy will Mr. JAY GOULD find the fulfillment of his threats.

If the present tolls and the present management be persisted in, we believe that it will not be possible for the Erie Canal to retain its traffic—certainly not to maintain the ratio of increase which it has hitherto exhibited. The currents of Western trade are changing with its requirements. Other avenues to the ocean are opening. And the continued supremacy of New-York is contingent upon an enlargement of the capacity and a reduction of the charges of its canals.

The Legislature has shown itself willing to squander nearly four and a half millions upon railroads which will be constructed by private enterprise as fast as they are really needed. It has revealed a willingness to add enormously to the taxation of the State for the furtherance of objects which never can constitute a proper claim upon the treasury. The most important public works of the State—those which it owns and controls, and on which its commercial greatness is in a large degree dependent—are at the same time neglected on the ground that there is neither money nor credit for their improvement.

New Projects for an Isthmus Interoceanic Ship Canal.

The Cushing Canal Treaty is certainly put off, and probably will come to naught. The Senate Committee on Foreign Affairs of the United States of Colombia reported against its ratification long ago; and now the Senate of the United States of America, after elaborate and protracted discussion of every part and parcel of it, with speeches in its favor by such gentlemen as Messrs. SUMNER and STEWART, and speeches against it by such gentlemen as Messrs. SHERMAN, FESSENDEN, WILSON, and WARNER, has postponed the whole subject until the next session. The arguments pro are easily imagined; the main argument con is understood to be that the treaty binds our Government to construct the canal, and yet in return gives nothing but a mere right of way.

It appears, therefore, that the one high contracting party rejects the Convention because it gives too much and brings too little to Colombia, and the other high contracting party demurs to it because it brings too little and gives too much to America. Under these circumstances it would seem that the whole affair will have to begin de novo, and with a clearer understanding of how both Governments really stand related to the stupendous enterprise.

We may presume that it is in recognition of this probable upshot of existing negotiations that Mr. WILSON has introduced into the Senate a new proposition. Before the Cushing Convention was acted on, that gentleman gave notice that he would offer a joint resolution authorizing the President to appoint a commission to examine into both the practicability and the best means of establishing the canal across the Isthmus. On consultation, the resolution was somewhat modified in form, though not in substance, and it has now been submitted as follows:

> Resolved, That the Secretary of the Navy be and he is hereby authorized, with the consent of the Government of Colombia, to cause a thorough survey to be made for a ship railway or a ship canal across the Isthmus of Darien, from San Miguel to the Gulf of Urapa, in Darien.

In this last shape of the Darien project, we note three or four important points—first, that the alternative of a ship railway is taken into consideration, as a hypothetical means of interoceanic communication; second, that a certain fixed route is proposed for experiment, being selected from the dozen different paths pointed out by engineers and explorers, English and American; third, that the survey for which, as we have already explained in the TIMES, an unexpended appropriation now lies ready,—having been made by Congress, chiefly through the exertions of Senator CONNESS, long ago,—it is now proposed (Colombia consenting) to begin; fourth, that the Navy Department is denoted as the one into whose province the preliminary steps of the gigantic undertaking falls.

Taking the last point first, it is to be observed that our naval officers have already taken much interest in this project, and contributed some valuable material to its facts and its literature. The excellent report of Rear-Admiral C. H. DAVIS, as is well known, furnishes a map and profile of the San Blas route, (in which, starting from the Pacific side, the proposed line is almost due north,) and estimates the total canal length from the mouth of the Bayano to the Gulf of San Blas, at a little above thirty miles. The recent letter of Lieutenant-Commander SELFRIDGE to Vice-Admiral Porter, in which he expresses a strong desire to conduct a survey across the Cordilleras, for the Government, adds direct and clear testimony to the ease of access and convenience and spaciousness of the harbors, to be found on both shores of the Isthmus at or about the point where the canal must be constructed. If the canal, therefore, is to be surveyed by Government, the Navy Department will best superintend the undertaking.

It seems to us that Mr. WILSON's proposition, or some modification of it, might well be taken up, since three years ago an appropriation of $40,000 was made by Congress for the same purpose—except that, if we remember right, instead of the single route now to be examined, the proposal was to investigate the two generally settled upon as most practicable and desirable, namely, that from the Gulf of San Miguel to California Bay, and that from the Bayano River to the Gulf of San Blas. But, while the San Blas route has been accurately surveyed and mapped by private enterprise, the other, or San Miguel route, has never yet been surveyed with instruments, though good observers have reported sufficiently of it to show that any money appropriated to its survey by Government would not be thrown away.

It will be suggested that if our Government goes to work at surveying a route before a treaty is completed with the Government at Bogota, it may be tricked out of its desired bargain by a higher bidder, and have only its labor for its pains. But this is a small objection. It is more important, on the other hand, to be first assured, not only that the canal is practicable, but of what it will probably cost, before making binding contracts to build, with provisions for paying fixed percentages to the Colombian Government. And, while private surveys may be trustworthy, yet inasmuch as Government is to be responsible for constructing the canal, though it may farm out the contract, it is wise to have the estimates of Government engineers and officials. On the other hand, whatever Colombia intends, our countrymen do not propose that this grand conduit of the world's commerce shall be built and controlled by any Power, against the interests of the United States.

The President and the Senate.

On Friday last, L. J. WORDEN, who had been nominated by the President to be Postmaster at Lawrence, Kansas, and whose nomination had been favorably reported by the Post Office Committee, and was supported by Senator POMEROY, was rejected by the Senate, by a vote of 38 to 8, "on the sole ground," as our correspondent states, "that he was opposed by Senator ROSS, because he was personally obnoxious to him," the Senate after a warm discussion, "adhering to a rule that has prevailed to some extent before."

Next came up the case of A. J. RICKS, nominated by the President to be Pension Agent at Knoxville, concerning which the same correspondent says:

> "There was little analogy between the cases, but BROWNLOW took advantage of the precedent just established, assailed RICKS as being personally obnoxious to him, and the Senate being committed in the one case, was obliged to sacrifice a gallant soldier to appease the spleen of BROWNLOW, whose opposition was based wholly upon the fact that his own son-in-law was Captain RICKS' unsuccessful competitor for the nomination."

It seems, then, that the Senate has "adopted the rule" that it will reject the nomination by the President of any man who is "personally obnoxious" to any one Senator coming from the same State as the nominee. Under such a rule as this what does a nomination for office by the President amount to? What is his constitutional prerogative worth? Senator ROSS, since his vote acquitted President JOHNSON on his impeachment, has had less influence, and stood worse, with the "reliable" Republicans of the Senate than any other member of the body. Yet a large majority of the party do not hesitate, out of deference to his "personal resentments" to insult President GRANT by throwing back his nomination in his face and allowing Senator ROSS to exult in a personal triumph over him. The same predominance over the President is conceded to BROWNLOW, to whom everybody is "personally obnoxious" who has any instinct of decency, and whose only vitality is an undying vehemence of personal hatred. If nobody is to be confirmed for office in Tennessee who is "personally obnoxious" to Senator BROWNLOW, we sympathize with that State on the general character of her Federal office-holders.

But we cannot congratulate General GRANT on the nature of the new domination which has thus been established over him by the Senate. He is supposed to nominate men for office because they are honest, capable and entitled to such distinction by useful public service; and he may have deemed it the duty, as it ought to be the pleasure, of the Senate, to give its "consent" to the nomination of such men. But this is by no means the case. He must consult the personal feelings of individual Senators; for the prejudice of a single Senator, against any individual whom he may nominate, overrides and overrules his opinions, his judgment and his wishes, and renders them all of not the slightest account. The Presidency has been degraded and humiliated by the Senate very often heretofore; but it has never before reached quite this point of imbecility and contempt. It is bad enough for the President of the country to be required to be the slave and the tool of a party;—but to be the slave and the tool of the personal animosities and prejudices of an individual Senator, is a step lower than has hitherto been required.

The Fishery Question Once More.

It is explained from Albany that the Legislative Committee which had the Game laws in charge, made the changes in the law fixing the size of the mesh in stake nets in the Hudson and other rivers at five instead of seven inches as a concession to the netting interest, and to avoid opposition on the part of the fishermen to its passage. It is urged in the Citizen by one of the Fish Commissioners, who no longer conceals his identity, and whom it is therefore no longer any discourtesy to name as the editor, that > "An enlargement of the size of the mesh would have utterly destroyed the value of an immense amount of property invested in nets. The alteration being carried out suddenly the fishermen could have made no preparation for it; but, being now fore-warned, they will hereafter be more ready to submit to it. Its effect is uncertain, except that it would diminish the supply of fish in our markets enormously. It is not necessary until the fry—which the Commissioners propose to breed artificially—shall have become two years old. It should be made to go into operation at a future time. There is a grave doubt whether it can be applied to the Jersey shore; if it cannot be its passage would be suicidal, as far as our fisheries are concerned. The present law is modeled after that in the adjoining State of Connecticut. The opposition to a great change would be irresistible."

All this is reasonable enough, even in the face of the fact that Mr. SKEELS reported to the Commissioners that there was "no trouble with the bill."

We had hoped that the Commissioners would make no effort to fix the laws regulating the fisheries at this time, but securing their appropriation, proceed with the spawning, trusting to obtain the necessary protection two years hence when the young shad are to return. There was no necessity for making the present changes at this time; it has simply served to develop opposition to the important work of restocking the rivers, and ought to have been deferred. Now that it is accomplished, the Commissioners advance in extenuation of the action the arguments which would have better justified them in deferring the necessary changes. We trust that the ignorance which is now the chief obstacle to the important work of restoring our exhausted streams, will be in a great measure dissipated by that time, and that there will then be less opposition to the radical changes in the law necessary to the completion of the work. The interest of the fish-eating public is too great to submit to successful opposition on the part of the fish-catching netters; and, in the end, persistent agitation of the question must lead to the triumph of the former interest. Make the necessary appropriation and preparations at once. At least the expenditure and experiments will serve to educate the public in regard to a material interest and industry destined to become, in a decade or two, of paramount importance to this country.

Protection to American Sailors.

A Special Committee of the House of Representatives has been instructed to inquire into the obstacles to American commerce. It is to employ the present vacation in making these inquiries, and we suppose that, as usual with Congressional Committees, it will do its work thoroughly, collect a great deal of information, embody it in a lengthy report, submit it to Congress, ask and obtain its publication at heavy cost, and then allow it to be forgotten without further action. But while they are making the inquiries, we beg of them not to neglect one indirect but very great difficulty in the matter—the present infamous shipping laws of the country. They are such as render greater the risk on every American vessel leaving an American port, and consequently increase the rate of insurance. They render the seamen dissatisfied and relieve captains of all responsibility; they produce discord and tend to produce mutiny on shipboard; and they deliver up sailors on shore to the remorseless cruelty of the boarding-house keepers, shipping-masters and other vampires. American commerce, as well as common humanity, demands a just shipping act for the whole country enacted by the National Congress, and enforced and adjudicated by Government employes and not an elective judiciary.

MINOR TOPICS.

It is really touching to read of the distress among the dismissed clerks from the Departments at Washington, and it is certainly grievous to hear that "many of those discharged have families dependent upon them, and have no other means of support, and much suffering must necessarily follow." It is assuredly hard to read these things in a country where there is so much work to be done, and where labor is always in demand. But we can't see that the Government should be required to maintain men and women whose services are not needed. The money for their support must be squeezed out of the people by taxation, and much of it from people who have not a cent to spare.

It will be seen that Mr. C. A. DANA has declined the office of Appraiser of Merchandise, to which he was appointed and confirmed last week. The note of the Secretary of the Treasury to Mr. DANA, expressing a personal desire that he might accept the office, is very complimentary; but Mr. DANA replies that, as the conductor of an independent newspaper, he can serve the country better "by remaining here and denouncing political immorality." We cannot conceive the slightest reason why Mr. MCELRATH, the present incumbent of the office of Appraiser, should now be removed. He is an energetic, faithful and efficient officer, is an earnest Republican and was a warm political friend of General GRANT. His appointment was very popular when made and has grown more so ever since. We hope he will not be disturbed.

The Evening Post, in referring to the "Ostend Manifesto," of fourteen years ago, says that among its signers "was SOULE, our Minister to Spain, now returned to his original obscurity." We believe that Ex-Senator SOULE is now in an insane asylum in Louisiana.

We fear that Senator SPRAGUE will have a hot reception in Rhode Island this week—if he ventures back there at the close of the session of the Senate. The newspapers, if not the people of the State, are tremendously excited over his personal assault upon those who have heretofore been considered distinguished soldiers in Rhode Island. In other times, BURNSIDE would have been compelled to challenge SPRAGUE to fight. But this would be against the laws of the State, and BURNSIDE will be satisfied with the "ovations" his friends propose to give him. It is said that Senator SPRAGUE is printing 100,000 copies of his speeches for distribution. He had better revise the edition he intends to circulate in Rhode Island. If he has determined to fight out the war on the line he has already taken, he has a life-time battle before him.

Does not the charter of the Second-avenue Railroad, as of other City railroads, require that the Company shall keep their cars running at certain stated intervals every day? The inhabitants of the east side of the City have been put to great inconvenience by the stoppage of the Second-avenue cars during the past week. The cause of the stoppage is the action of the Company in making regulations imposing terms upon the employes to which men cannot be found to accede. How can the Company thus violate the law and the conditions on which they hold their charter?

It is perfectly certain that Governor HOFFMAN will veto the Broadway Railroad bill,—if he carries out the principle laid down in his admirable message accompanying the veto of the One Hundred and Twenty-fifth-street Railroad bill. After showing that the principles governing city railroad grants are not in their nature changeable, to be applied, relaxed or compromised on personal or any other grounds, but that they are necessarily fixed and immutable, he said:

> "I hold that these grants belong to the people; that their value should be paid to the Treasury of the State or of the City of New-York; and that the Legislature has not the right in morals or justice to give them away to any individuals who may be selected for such benefaction. If the grant made by this bill, or by any one like it, is worth $10,000 per annum, the effect of the bill it to give that sum annually to the grantees, for all future time, without consideration. It seems to me that the simple statement of the proposition is sufficient to show the unjustifiable character of the act. All legislation should be founded on public reason and for public benefit. Legislation is a 'public trust,' and not a mere right to be exercised for private benefit or emolument. It should be as impartially administered and executed as any judicial or other power of government. Our Constitution and our form of government recognize no distinction between classes of the community, and give no right to the representatives of the people to distinguish any individuals, by grants or gifts of public property which are withheld from others. Legislation is in the name of the people, by the people, and should be for the people."

When the Governor applies these doctrines to the Broadway Railroad bill, he has but one course of action before him.

The revolution in the Mexican States of Sonora and Sinaloa has gone pretty far. VEGA has declared Sonora an independent Republic, and has banished the Custom-house officers of the Mexican Government; and in the State of Sinaloa, (which is contiguous to Sonora,) REYES has pronounced against the Juarez Government. JUAREZ will find it hard work to put down this revolt, which has for its object the formation of a Northwestern Republic. If its leaders are successful in securing independence, we have no doubt they will be anxious to sell out to the American Government on easy terms.

The want of system in the Police administration of this City results very strangely at times. On Saturday last Captain MILLS directed a raid upon the loafers and vagrants of the Eight Precinct. Accordingly eight young men were summarily arrested, and it was supposed they would be swept into the Penitentiary under the Vagrancy act. On being brought up before a Justice, however, their counsel demanded, as a legal right, a separate examination for each of them. On this the Police officers declined to support an affidavit of vagrancy, and, after a short time, all the prisoners were discharged, the Justice remarking that the police functionary who directed the arrest should certainly have been present to sustain his procedure and explain the issuing of the order. This is undoubtedly true; and he had no right to cause the arrest of these persons unless he was prepared to justify it. Another strange case occurred on the same day. The counsel for a prisoner demanded permission to see him; but the Police Superintendent, after a stormy interview, refused to grant it; and soon after, when the counsel had procured a writ of habeas corpus from the Supreme Court, it was found that the Superintendent had left town by the express train for Connecticut. In both of these instances the proceedings were certainly rather strange.

The Brooklyn Aldermen, the other day voted that a sum not exceeding $500 be appropriated to pay an expert to examine the accounts of the Prospect Park Commissioners for the Select Committee of Investigation. As the Committee includes a good business man in the person of Alderman WHITNEY, a good lawyer in Alderman FISHER, and a very successful business man in Mayor KALBFLEISCH, wherein is the necessity of the services of any man who knows more than they do, or any of them? Is there any one man who is sufficiently expert to know more than this galaxy of business talent? If there is such a man, isn't he worth more to the Park Commissioners—if they need him?

There has been some curiosity to learn the provisions of the "Married Women's Property bill," which, the Cable has informed us, was brought before the House of Commons on last Wednesday night. We have before us a synopsis of the bill, as follows:

> "It provides that a married woman shall be as capable of holding and dealing with real and personal estate, of suing and being sued, as if she were a single woman. Every woman who marries after the passing of the act may hold all property, real or personal, possessed or acquired before or after marriage, free from the control of her husband, and her earnings in any separate trade or occupation will be regarded as her personal property. On the other hand, husbands are not to be liable for the debts of their wives, either before or after marriage, nor liable in damages for any wrong committed by them. Upon the death of a wife intestate, the husband will take only the same share in her personal estate as a wife now takes in the personal estate of an intestate husband. Such are the leading clauses of the 'Married Women's Property bill,' which is to date from the first day of next year."

There is no doubt that the English law of property and contract with respect to married women, is unjust; but the present measure is so sweeping that it will certainly startle English husbands.

Outrageous! The Captain of a Liverpool and Eastham ferry-boat has been fined fifteen pounds for allowing his steamer to be overcrowded, beyond the number it was certified to carry. Thank heaven! We live in a free country where every man has a right to make just as much out of the public as he can. As for crowds and discomfort and danger—let people keep off the boats and cars if they don't like the risk. "Every man for himself," is the motto for New York.

The opening of Spring and the gentler gales of the warmer months are starting up Irish emigration again from the southern counties of that country. The emigrants are generally from the agricultural class, and if there were some efficient coöperation of rural organizations in our own interior districts with the Labor Exchange of Castle Garden, many hundreds of these sturdy laborers might be passed easily and comfortably into the rural regions, where they are needed, and not suffered to stop in the already crowded City, where they are not wanted, and where they are of little more use than to choke up its already contracted channels—both those of trade and of fresh air.

Character of the Pennsylvania Legislature.

From the Harrisburg Journal.

On all sides, by men of all parties, and in all circles, it is freely admitted that the Legislature of 1869 was the most venal and corrupt body of men that ever sat in deliberation in the State capitol. We do not pretend to say there are not Senators and Representatives who are above and beyond the influence of bribes for votes for filthy and dishonest legislation, but we do assert it, feeling it to be our solemn duty to give the people warning on the dangers of sending ignorant and dishonest men to the Legislature, and it will not require five years of repeated sessions like the one just closed, to bankrupt the Commonwealth, bind its laboring energy at the feet of tyrannical corporations, invest individuals with special privileges to hold and control the resources of the Commonwealth against the welfare and interests of the great mass. Anything that had money in it, however unfair, disgraceful and destructive it might be, could be embodied in the shape of a bill and passed, while anything which could not be manipulated and money made out of it, however fair or absolutely necessary it was for the establishment of justice and the vindication of right, was ignored and treated with contempt, unless, indeed, the ring which controlled both Houses condescended to let it become a law. Divorce bills were openly sold in the lobbies and the rotunda. Divorce bills once killed could be revived, although the proceeding was in direct opposition to positive rule, just whenever the parties were willing to pay. For $5,000 any man could divorce his wife; for a pretext, any voluptuous wife of easy virtue could fling her husband away by the aid of the Divorce Committee of the House, which Committee was fiercely accused, in open session of the House, of taking bribes. The tax on petroleum and coal was brought through the House, and when it reached the Senate $2,000 a vote was offered for its passage. The money to buy the Cattle bill through was exposed as fully, in both branches, as are the funds of a sheep drover when he is in the market to purchase stock.

We repeat our declaration that a more dishonest and corrupt legislative body than that just adjourned, never occupied the Capitol of Pennsylvania.

Gunboats for Cuba—Fresh Candidates for the Spanish Crown.

MADRID, Sunday, April 18.

The building of gunboats for service in the waters of Cuba is going on with great expedition, and it is expected they will be completed and ready to sail before the end of June next.

It is reported that Prince FREDERICK CHARLES of Prussia and the Duke of LUXEMBURG will be put forward as candidates for the throne of Spain.

Differences have arisen in the Cabinet in regard to the customs, and it is probable that FIGUEROLA, Minister of Finance, and other members of the Government, will resign in consequence of the disagreement.

CUBA.

Arrival of Volunteers From Spain.

HAVANA, Sunday, April 18.

The Catalonian volunteers arrived to-day from Spain, and were received with immense enthusiasm. On landing they were escorted to their barracks by the regular and volunteer troops, and a large civic procession, which passed through the principal streets. The city was gaily decorated, and triumphal arches spanned the streets on the line of march.

Two negroes among the spectators shouted "Viva CESPEDES!" and were instantly killed.

The steamer Cuba arrived to-day from Baltimore.

ROME.

Withdrawal of the French Troops.

ROME, Sunday, April 18.

It is rumored that the Emperor NAPOLEON has ordered the evacuation of Rome by the French troops in June.

GREAT BRITAIN.

Tory Opposition to Disestablishment of the Irish Church.

LONDON, Sunday, April 18.

The debate in the House of Commons on the Irish Church bill was resumed on Saturday evening. The following was the resolution offered by the Conservative leader, Mr. DISRAELI: "On and after the first day of January, 1871, the said union, created by act of Parliament, between the Churches of England and Ireland, shall be dissolved, and the said Church of Ireland, hereinafter referred to as the 'said Church,' shall cease to be established by law." In his speech on this subject, Mr. DISRAELI said the above clause destroyed the supremacy of the Crown, and placed the Church at a disadvantage. Mr. GLADSTONE traversed this statement, and considered that the supremacy of the Crown would exist, but in an altered form. The amendment, if successful, would absolutely destroy the bill. Mr. DISRAELI replied. He admitted that his intention was to aim a mortal blow at the bill; but if the motion were accepted the Government could still continue their disendowment policy. The House divided on Mr. DISRAELI'S motion, as follows: For, 221; Against, 344; Government majority, 123. The result was received with tremendous cheers by the Liberals.

FRANCE.

Speech of M. Thiers on the Liberty of France.

PARIS, Sunday, April 18.

The Corps Legislatif was on Saturday the scene of wild excitement. M. THIERS, in a speech, denounced what is called "the commercial liberty of France as, like the political liberties of the French people, a farce." These words occasioned a heated dispute between the President and M. THIERS, which lasted some time, and threatened to break up the session, but was finally appeased. M. QUERTIER in some remarks, demanded that the regulation of commercial treaties be vested in the Corps Legislatif, instead of the Crown.

NORTH GERMANY.

Responsibility of Prussian Ministers.

BERLIN, Sunday, April 18.

Count BISMARCK has accepted the interpretation of the Responsibility of Ministers' bill, which has just been passed by the North German Parliament. The design of the measure is to check the opposition to the actual management of business.

BELGIUM.

Strike and Rioting by the Belgian Miners.

BRUSSELS, Sunday, April 18.

A strike among the miners near Mons occurred on Saturday. The latest dispatches from there state that there was rioting in that region, and much alarm prevailed.

Affairs and Opinions in California.

SAN FRANCISCO, Friday, April 16.

The steamer Golden City sailed for Panama to-day, carrying $656,000 in treasure, of which $367,000 is for New-York, $277,000 for England, and $10,000 for Panama.

Surprise is manifested here at the indiscriminate removal of officeholders in California by the new Administration. The appointment of the successor to J. ROSS BROWNE to the China Mission is viewed with regret, while the nomination of CHAS. E. DELONG to Japan is denounced as an unfit one.

The telegraph line to Hamilton and Treasure City, White Pine County, Nevada, is completed.

It has rained all day. The breadstuffs market is dull, and prices unchanged. Legal-tenders, 77.

SAN FRANCISCO, Friday, April 16.

Advices from Honolulu to April 1 have been received. The ship King Philip, during a gale, was damaged by fire, and it will require $20,000 to repair the damage.

A heavy rain prevailed on the islands, and business generally was dull.

The whale ship Trident reports that several lagoons on the coast of Lower California are not so deep by six feet as they were last year, and the vessel was unable to enter them. The change is attributed to the action of earthquakes.

Whale ships arrived—Aurora, with 350 barrels sperm oil; Camilla, 300 barrels sperm oil; Oriode, 800 barrels sperm oil; Roman, from New-Bedford, 60 barrels sperm oil; Occident, 230 barrels whale oil.

Sailed—Whale ships Active, Sea Breeze, Lagoda, California, Oliver Crocker, Trident.

The Funeral of a Boston Journalist.

BOSTON, Sunday, April 18.

The funeral of Colonel CHARLES O. ROGERS, late proprietor of the Boston Journal, took place this afternoon at the Church of the Unity, Rev. GEO. H. HEPWORTH, Pastor of the Church, officiating. Members of the Press, of the City Government, of the Senate and House, (in the several branches of which the deceased had served the city and State,) with large delegations from the Ancient and Honorable Artillery, the Seventh Regiment, and other military organizations, of which he has been a member and liberal patron, were present. The church was filled, and many hundreds were gathered in its vicinity. After impressive services in the church, the remains were conveyed to Forest Hill Cemetery. A numerous procession followed to the city line.

The Baltimore Fire—Recovery of the Buried Firemen.

BALTIMORE, Md., Sunday, April 18.

The three firemen buried in the ruins of No. 14 McClellan-alley last night were extricated this morning. GEO. W. BENTZ and JAS. W. SOMMERS were reached about 2 o'clock, the former severely injured about the head and shoulders, and rendered helpless in the left leg. SOMMERS was badly bruised and terribly burned from his hips to his feet. The body of JOHN MCBRIDE was reached about 4 o'clock. He was dead, his neck having been broken by a falling timber. Several others were seriously injured, with broken ribs and severe contusions. Chief Assistant-Engineer WILLIAM C. ROSS was alive at 7 o'clock to-night. Seventeen firemen were on the second floor of the building when the large chimney fell in, crushing a portion of the building and the front wall. The building was one of the oldest in the city, and was built of imported brick; and is said to have been the headquarters of General KOSCIUSKO at a period in the Revolutionary War.

Miscellaneous Telegrams.

SHIPPENSBURG, PENN., April 18.—A fire occurred last night which destroyed the stables of Dr. STEWARD, and the Sherman House, the Cumberland Valley Railroad Depot, and the News and Sentinel printing offices. The loss is about $15,000, and is fully insured.

ST. LOUIS, April 18.—The Adjutant-General's office of this Military Division will be removed to Chicago on Monday.

NEW-ORLEANS, La., Sunday, April 18.—With this morning's issue the publication of the New-Orleans Crescent ceased, it having been purchased by C. A. WEED, for some time the real, although not the nominal, proprietor of the New-Orleans Times, and the Crescent has been merged in the Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Penn., April 18.—JOHN LAWLER, one of the proprietors and originators of the Sunday Dispatch of this city, died this evening after an illness of several weeks.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, April 18.—A fire broke out to-day in the New-England block on Broadway, by which eight stores were more or less damaged. The aggregate loss is $17,000; insured for $4,500. The origin of the fire is unknown.

ALBANY.

Prospect of Adjournment—The Annual Message to be Discussed by the Senate—Rumored Change in the Health Office.

From Our Own Correspondent.

ALBANY, Sunday, April 18, 1869.

The vetoes of the Governor during the past week having knocked in the head all the big railroad jobs, and well nigh destroyed the occupation of the lobby, there is a fair prospect that the Legislature will now finish up the legitimate business on hand and come to a speedy adjournment. A week from next Thursday is talked of as the day for closing up legislation, but a good deal will depend upon the action of the "third house" and the inducements held out by that body for prolonging the session.

THE ANNUAL MESSAGE.

The Senate voted yesterday, on motion of Mr. O'DONNELL, to take up the annual message of Governor HOFFMAN, and make it the special order for next Thursday evening. It looks to be rather late in the session to discuss the Governor's message, and it also looks a little queer that the motion to bring up the discussion should have been made by a Republican. Perhaps the secret of the movement may be found in the speech of Senator FOLGER (published in yesterday's TIMES) on the veto of the One Hundred and Twenty-fifth-street Railroad bill.

"Is there a mutiny in the Democratic camp?" asked the Senator from the Twenty-sixth; "is the favorite standard-bearer of Tammany to be deposed? Does the astute and well-informed editor of the Argus see a conflict arising between the newly-elected Governor and his heretofore submissive and applauding followers?"

Now it may be that the forthcoming discussion on the annual message of His Excellency will furnish an answer to these questions. When the message was first sent to the Legislature, the Democracy were loud and unanimous in its praise. It was the greatest State paper of modern times. But the Governor has trod on the corns of the Tammany leaders since that time. He has vetoed one and damned to eternal infamy another of the schemes of plunder that were to enrich each member of the ring. Do they hold him in the same high estimation as before? Time will show; but it would be funny if the high-sounding praise which greeted the Governor on the delivery of his message three months ago should now find no echo except from Republican lips.

WHAT ABOUT THE APPOINTMENTS?

The last executive session for receiving nominations from the Governor will be held on Wednesday next, and a good deal of curiosity is felt to ascertain whether any understanding has been arrived at between the nominating and confirming power by which any changes are to be effected in the positions of Harbor Masters, Port Wardens, Health Officer, &c., of New-York. It is rumored that the name of a Republican from the City of Brooklyn is to be sent in for the latter position, and if so, he will doubtless be confirmed without opposition. With regard to the other places I have not heard what changes, if any, are contemplated. Very likely the rumor alluded to may be without foundation. S.

AMUSEMENTS.

Theatrical.

Mlle. JANAUSCHEK is to give three supplementary performances this week, prior to her departure for Germany. They will take place at the Academy. A charitable object is the purpose of each. On Wednesday she gives "The Bride of Messina" for the benefit of the German Hospital; on Saturday "Deborah" will be acted for the benefit of the Hebrew Free School; and on Friday she will appear in several scenes from several plays, upon her individual behalf. The performances in English are not to be given at present. The experiment, however, is merely postponed, it is not abandoned. Upon her next visit to the States—for Mlle. JANAUSCHEK proposes to make a third—she expects to perform mainly in the English language.

A postponement of the new pantomime, announced for this evening at Tammany, has been decided on. It will be brought out Wednesday evening, upon which occasion "Robinson Crusoe and his Man Friday" will renew their acquaintance with the friends who, in their youth, knew them well. Mlle. TURNOUR and the GREGORY boys remain attractive features of the Tammany entertainment.

The European Circus is to open this evening, under canvas, in Thirty-fourth-street. This morning the entire troupe and menagerie forming this organization are to parade through the main streets. The company has been greatly augmented and much improved during the Winter recess.

The season at the Fourteenth-street Circus closes on Saturday next, and on the Monday following the company will open in Washington, after which it is to proceed on its usual Summer tour through the country, returning to its headquarters here again in September. Under the liberal management of Mr. LENT this circus has been extremely successful, and has come to be recognized as among the most popular of our permanent places of amusement. During the season now closing it has received the countenance and support of quite a superior class of audiences, a result which we believe to be wholly due to the care that has been shown in excluding from the entertainment that coarseness and vulgarity which in former days was a prominent characteristic of "The Circus."

"Lucrezia Borgia," in which Miss ELISE HOLT made her début here, is to be revived at the Waverley to-night. This little pocket actress was quite sick when she first played the part of Genaro, and we suppose the manager, in reproducing the burlesque, does so that she may show what she really can do with the character.

Mr. and Mrs. BARNEY WILLIAMS are to exhibit the merits of a "Fairy Circle," and the humors of "Yankee Courtship," this evening, at the Broadway Theatre.

At the Bowery Theatre "The Seven Dwarfs" will begin their seventh week of pantomimic folly.

Mr. CATHCART will be the star at Wood's Museum during the current week. A little drama called "The Conscript" will be resuscitated for his behoof. The burlesque of "Aladdin," with Miss HARLAN as the lad, will also be acted each evening.

At the Theatre Comique Mr. LINGARD'S personal sketches, Mr. FARNIE'S burlesque of "Pluto," and the comedy of "Delicate Ground" will be the attractions of the week. Mr. BONIFACE has been engaged as stage manager here, and Mr. J. C. WILLIAMSON is shortly to be added to the company.

The last nights of "School" is the burden of this week's announcement from Wallack's.

Mme. LA GRANGE sailed for Europe in Saturday's steamer.

Mr. PIKE has bought ground at the corner of Twenty-third-street and Broadway, east side, and will speedily erect a new opera house and hotel. The site is one of the best in the City. Years ago LAURA KEENE and BOUCICAULT tried very hard to lease the ground for a theatre. Mr. PIKE, we hear, paid $950,000 for it.

Some time ago it was stated that Miss ADA WEBB had retired from the stage and was to be married. Later she resumed the profession, and it was rumored that her matrimonial engagement had been broken off. Now it appears, from a Detroit paper, that the young lady has commenced a suit against her recreant lover (a Mr. SKAE) for breach of promise.

FINE ARTS.

THE NATIONAL ACADEMY OF DESIGN.

The forty-fourth annual exhibition of our National Academy of Design, which opened with a grand reception last week, presents few novel features of interest to those who have frequented its galleries for the past five or six years. In all that time scarcely one new name has risen into prominence in American art. Turning over the pages of the catalogue, we discover few changes in the familiar list of names. We miss a few; some removed by death, as ELLIOTT, LEUTZE, SUYDAM, MOUNT, and others absent in Europe, as MCENTEE, GIFFORD, and a few others. Nor is there much change in the character of the exhibition, which, so far as we can discover, is neither better nor worse than that of four or five years ago; the chief progress in American being in water colors and not in oils. But while there are few pictures of great excellence in the collection, it is consolatory to reflect that it contains few that may be called utterly disgraceful. The Hanging Committee might have rejected some pictures with credit to their own judgment, and thereby spared the public an unnecessary infliction; but, in general, they have done their work well. We are not certain that anything can excuse the admission of such a frightful picture as "Beulah," (we charitably omit the artist's name,) which hangs in the North Room, and which is certainly one of the worst failures in conception, composition and color that ever disgraced an artist's career. It would hardly pass muster at a young ladies' boarding school, and we cannot imagine what induced a committee composed of such men as HUNTINGTON, H. P. GRAY, W. WHITTREDGE, EDWIN WHITE, EASTMAN JOHNSON, &c., to give it the approval implied by its position in the North Room. Was it because the picture came from Boston?

One of the best pictures in the gallery is COLMAN'S "Fort Lafayette," (No. 269,) in the South Room. The view was taken from Fort Hamilton; in the middle distance stands the noble mass of Fort Lafayette, relieved against the light of the setting sun, and on the left, a number of ships, tugboats and other craft are passing through the Narrows. In the distance rise the Staten Island hills. The general effect is picturesque and animated, and the details are painted with great care. Nothing in its way could be finer than the management of the reflection of the sun in the water and the rippling effect which COLMAN is so fond (somewhat too fond, indeed,) of introducing into his pictures where water is visible. On the whole, the picture is one of the strongest that he has ever painted.

PAGE'S portrait of HENRY WARD BEECHER (No. 326) is a remarkable work of art—strong in color, manly in drawing, and full of that subtle expression which PAGE always puts into his portraits, when his sitters afford him the chance. It is a work to be carefully studied.

"The March to the Sea" (No. 21) is a very spirited drawing by DARLEY, full of life and animation.

"After the Shower," (No. 77,) by S. J. GUY, is one of the most attractive pictures in the gallery. Every mother's heart will warm toward it. It represents a little fellow sailing egg-shell boats in the puddles left on the uneven pavement after a Summer shower, and is painted with a care and fidelity rarely shown in American pictures.

A dreadful picture, one of a kind not to be tolerated, is A. H. RITCHIE'S "Death of President LINCOLN" (No. 148.) If anything could degrade the awful solemnity of that scene it would be such a work as this. The Hanging Committee deserve severe censure for giving it a place on the walls of the Academy.

Of Mr. HENNESSY'S "Summer Sea" (No. 273) we have already spoken in such terms as its great merits more than justify. It is by far the best work he has yet exhibited, and ranks among the highest productions of American art.

The "Amateur Circus," (No. 321,) by G. C. LAMBDIN, is a pretty idea felicitously carried out,—a youngster who has been to the circus entertaining a wondering group of companions with a rehearsal of the feats he has witnessed. The grouping is well managed, and all the details of landscape and figure are painted with care and feeling.

In the west room hangs a picture by LA FARGE, called the "Sleeping Beauty," (No. 410,) which deserves attention as a fine study in color.

We shall refer to other pictures in a second article.

SKETCHES AMONG THE ALPS.

Mr. GODFREY N. FRANKENSTEIN, an artist already well known in this country by his series of Niagara pictures, has just returned with his brother, also an artist of repute, from an extended tour through Switzerland, bringing with him a large number of very elaborate studies of the scenery of that magnificent country. It is commonly supposed that in Switzerland you will find an artist squatting before every peak and waterfall, and transferring its beauty to canvas; but though no scenery is so frequently painted as that of the Alps, there is perhaps no country where so little actual out-of-door painting is done. Artists generally content themselves with taking hasty outlines of remarkable scenes, and then trust to luck and memory to paint them up in their studios. The Messrs. FRANKENSTEIN, however, made the most elaborate and conscientious out-of-door studies in color, in the grandest and most picturesque part of the Alps, and have filled their portfolios with real Alpine portraiture from which to paint larger pictures. An exhibition of these pictures would be very interesting, and we hope that either Mr. SNEDECOR, Mr. SCHAUS, or Mr. KNOEDLER will give the public the opportunity of seeing them.

In addition to the Alpine sketches, the Messrs. FRANKENSTEIN have a number of studies made in England and Wales, which, if less grand in general feature, are not less beautiful in general tone and color and elaborate finish of detail.

Another Reputed Revolutionary Soldier.

ARCADE, N. Y., Saturday, April 10, 1869.

To the Editors of the Lewiston Journal:

DANIEL FREDERICK BAKMAN, supposed to be the last of the soldiers of the Revolution, died at his residence at Freedom, Cattaraugus County, N. Y., April 5, at the advanced age of 109 years, 6 months. Mr. BAKMAN entered the army just previous to the skirmish of Fort Plains, and took some part in that battle. His wife, with whom he had lived eighty-five years, died about six years ago, at the age of 105; and a few weeks since he followed to the grave one of his sons, who at the time of his death was aged 80 years. His funeral was attended by children and children's children to the fifth generation. The sermon on the occasion was preached by Rev. ABNER MORRILL, formerly of Mechanic Falls, Me., but now pastor of the Baptist Church in this village. I have been informed that Mr. BAKMAN has voted at every Presidential election from WASHINGTON'S to GRANT'S. He voted at the last election for General GRANT. P.

THE APPRAISERSHIP.

Mr. Dana Declines the Appointment.

It will be seen from the following correspondence that Mr. DANA declines the nomination as Appraiser of this port:

SECRETARY BOUTWELL TO MR. C. A. DANA.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
WASHINGTON, April 14, 1869.

MY DEAR SIR: You will have heard of your nomination as Appraiser—an office for which probably you have neither taste nor inclination, and which, regarding your own claims only, should not have been tendered you; and yet I hope you will not decline it. It is the point on which our success in collecting the Customs revenues turns, and I know of no place in which you can render so efficient aid to the Government.

If you accept, as I sincerely hope you will, I shall esteem it a personal favor, and you may count upon my constant support. Very truly,

GEO. S. BOUTWELL.

To Hon. C. A. DANA, New-York.

MR. DANA'S REPLY.

SUN OFFICE, NEW-YORK, April 17, 1869.

MY DEAR SIR: Your unexpected favor of the 14th inst. was duly received. It would have been more speedily answered but for the personal request with which it closes. In these days of corruption, in high places as well as in low places, no upright citizen ought hastily to refuse such a request; but, after due consideration, I find myself constrained to decline this mark of your esteem and confidence. I beg you, however, to believe that this is not done from either of the reasons which you suggest. Having been educated to commercial pursuits, the office is not repugnant to my tastes; and as for serving the Government at some sacrifice of my own interest and convenience, I trust that during the past few years I have sufficiently proved my readiness to do it. But I already hold an office of responsibility as the conductor of an independent newspaper, and I am persuaded that to abandon it or neglect it for the functions you offer me would be to leave a superior duty for one of much less importance. Nor is it certain that I cannot do more to help you in the pure and efficient administration of the Treasury Department by remaining here and denouncing and exposing political immorality, than I could do as Appraiser by the most zealous effort to insure the faithful and honest collection of the Customs. Very sincerely yours,

CHARLES A. DANA.

Hon. GEORGE S. BOUTWELL, Secretary of the Treasury.

EX-GOVERNOR WISE.

His Views on the War and the Abolition of Slavery—The Patriot's Duty To-day.

From the Atlanta (Ga.) Christian Advocate.

RICHMOND, Va., March 31, 1869.

Rev. James Mitchell:

DEAR SIR: In reply to yours of the 28th instant, I can only say that I am perfectly content to await the "delay" simply which was resolved on. It may be wise as to action, but is dangerous as to the work of preparation. Of this, however, your authorities are the proper judges.

As to the points in my first letter touching the effects of the abolition of slavery on the relations of the two branches of the Methodist Episcopal Church, I can but say that my convictions are strong, and if I clearly expressed them to you I have no sort of objection to their publication. My letter's main subject-matter called forth incidentally an expression on these points, but not fully enough, perhaps, to be understood in a clear light. What I said, exactly, in that letter, I don't remember, but I know what I meant to say, and should have said, and have no hesitation in repeating now my true meaning.

The long agitation of the question of slavery, its history before the war, and the war itself, convinced me that an exodus from African bondage was obliged to be by the almighty hand of Providence. God knew what poor finite minds North and South did not foresee—that nothing short of fire and sword, of war and its blood and violence, could emancipate negro slaves on this continent, in a country governed, as the United States, in the form of constitutional republics bound together by a constitutional union. By no steps in normal times could Congress ever have abolished slavery; and the States would never have commenced emancipation by peaceful means, gradual or otherwise, for reasons which it would be irritating now to state. It is sufficient to say that too many in the South fought for nothing but the right of property in slaves; and it is time that the North was informed that by far the most respectable portion of the Southern people fought for something far more precious than the legal privilege of being the masters of slaves. They fought for the more glorious privilege of self-government. They are willing to emancipate slaves in their own time and own way, but were not willing to allow Congress to regulate their domestic government and concerns for them either as to slavery or anything else. Thus there were double restraints against emancipation which could not be removed in time to prevent either dissolution of the Union or civil war. The war was a national necessity, permitted by Divine Providence to prevent (in the end, I hope,) greater evils than the war itself.

And I mark this view of the case as essential to guide all good Christians and patriots in their endeavors now to ease a most glorious country, still suffering from the awful conflict, and in the greatest danger of losing civil liberty for all races in the struggle to emancipate one race. The view I have taken is a heliocentric one. It strives to reach God's throne, and to look thence out upon the ways and the end. That He ordered and directed and forced the result of emancipation of slaves in America, knowing that there was no other way to bring it about and at the same time save all that is precious, I have not the least doubt. And I feel that he who resists, or in any unreasonable way obstructs, the legitimate consequences of this special providence, "kicks against the pricks." This brings up the question:

What should be regarded as the legitimate consequences? My answer is peace. The old strifes must cease and be hushed. Next, charity, toleration, brotherly and patriotic kindness. It is not for me to upbraid you or you me for the offences and injuries of this war. Slavery was its cause, was our weakness if not our wickedness, and God has purged out its sin and satanic influence by fire and blood. His fire and blood, for the war was His if the sin was mine. But woe unto those, on either side, who shall cause the fires to burn and the blood to heat after the sin and causes of woes have been burnt to ashes. We must not keep the fires ignited—the ashes must be allowed to cool, and then, as from battle-fields, the green herbage may be made to grow more luxuriant than ever; so good fruit may be made to spring even from the cinders and ashes of this horrid war. No man, or set of men, must dare to take any bolts of vengeance in their hands. God often used the heathen to punish his own chosen people; but if they dared to do even His will in a heathenish and unchristian way, Jehovah never failed to make them, too, feel His wrath. Let the North remember that, and that if the war was Providential, then we all were but mere instruments of the Divine Government, and should not attempt to play petty providences in the place of God. If we do we will curse ourselves and our country—we will become petty tyrants. Guided by a catholic spirit like this, and looking to God all the time, in every act and plan, we will prevent the white man from being enslaved by the causes which made the black man free; we will prevent the continuance of the causes which separated the Methodist Church as the precursors of the attempted separation of the whole country; and we will cause the whole country to be stronger, and safer, and freer than it ever was or could be before.

I have written enough, and you are welcome to weave these views into those of my first letter and print them together.

I have examined your pamphlets, and thank you for them.

Very truly and respectfully yours,

HENRY A. WISE.

RELIGIOUS SERVICES.

Opening of the First Moravian Church.

The opening of the First Moravian Church in New-York took place yesterday with appropriate services. This church was started about twenty years ago, and subsequently worshiped at the corner of Mott and Houston streets. Their house there was afterward sold, and for the past three years they have occupied the Home in Twenty-ninth-street. They have now purchased the church—formerly Rev. S. H. TYNG'S, Jr.—at the corner of Lexington-avenue and Thirtieth-street.

In the morning the services consisted of choir singing—the "Te Deum Laudamus," prayer and sermon.

The discourse was preached by Rev. Mr. BIGLER, of Pennsylvania. Rev. Dr. PRIME also made some appropriate remarks.

In the afternoon the congregation was addressed by Rev. A. R. THOMPSON, and Communion service was held in the evening. The Society numbers about eighty communicants, with Rev. A. A. REINKE as pastor.

City Missions.

A public meeting in behalf of the City Missions was held yesterday evening at Rev. Mr. TYNG'S Church on Forty-second-street. Rev. Mr. MINGINS described the condition of the missions, what they had done and what they had to do. Rev. Dr. HASTINGS spoke of the peculiar difficulties which the City presented to missionary work, and described the modes adopted to overcome them. In conclusion, Rev. Mr. TYNG called for aid in the way of money, and a collection was taken. The number of people assembled was sufficient to fill the church.

Rev. T. C. Teasdale's Sermon to Young Ladies.

At the Baptist Church, corner of Varick and Laight streets, an address to young ladies was delivered yesterday evening by Rev. T. C. TEASDALE, D. D., formerly of Washington City. The attendance was not large. The text was from Luke chap. 10, v. 42—"Mary hath chosen that good part which shall not be taken away from her." In the address the reverend gentleman explained the part which Mary had chosen saying. It did not consist of an outward show of religion, such as is too often seen in our women of the present day, and which amounts to nothing more than a strict observance of the accepted, church-going, Sunday-school attending and ostentatious professions of Christianity. Herod had done as much when he lavished his gold on behalf of the Temple. "Yet, his hands were red with blood;" but it was the consecration of the heart to Christ. He showed it to be a good part inasmuch as religion was the main-stay of moral integrity—and woman's first emancipator—History showing that woman was a slave where Christianity was not known. He closed with an earnest appeal to young women to choose Christ of their own free will, and to lay up for themselves a consolation and a balm for every ill and suffering in this vale of tears.

Anniversary of the Church of the Holy Light.

Yesterday was the anniversary of the Church of the Holy Light, corner of Broadway and Thirty-seventh-street. The sermon was preached by the rector, Rev. EASTBURN BENJAMIN, who prefaced his discourse with a brief history of the church. It has already about seventy communicants, and the Sunday attendance is gradually increasing. The church, which is a free one, has bought a plot of ground on Seventh-avenue, near the corner of Thirty-seventh-street, where a wooden structure is to be commenced at once. With a more acceptable place of worship than the present one, the congregation will undoubtedly become much larger than it is now. In connection with the church, and under its auspices, is a Home for the Blind, located at the corner of Fifty-second-street and Second-avenue, which is in a flourishing condition. It contains already forty inmates. This institution is supported by voluntary contribution, and owes its existence and worth to the Church of the Holy Light.

Labrador Missions—Sermon by Rev. E. Botwood.

In the Church of the Transfiguration, Twenty-ninth-street, Rev. E. BOTWOOD, late a missionary in Labrador, preached a sermon on behalf of the endowment fund of a college in St. Johns, for the training of missionaries for Newfoundland and Labrador, selecting as his text "Who is my neighbor?" In the course of his sermon he dwelt on the necessity of a local institution for the training of missionaries for that field of labor, who, being natives, are inured to the severities of the clime, and consequently better adapted for efficiency and success. He besought aid for that mission work, he said, not solely in obedience to the command to "love thy neighbor as thyself," but also as due to the self-sacrificing missionaries who not only devote themselves to the inhabitants of that region, but also to hundreds of American fishermen.

New-York Branch of the American Church Union.

The fourth sermon of the course before this organization was preached yesterday evening at the Chapel of the Holy Saviour by Rev. N. H. CHAMBERLAIN. The subject announced was "The work that lies in our hands as churchmen." The speaker stated that circumstances had interfered with his preparation of the proposed lecture, and then delivered an interesting discourse about Christian life, and especially the life of the Church.

The Coming General Council at Rome.

The lecture-hall of St. Francis Xavier's College, in Sixteenth-street, was last evening filled with a large and most intelligent audience, brought together for the purpose of listening to a discourse by Rev. MICHAEL O'CONNOR, S. J., who took as his subject: "The Coming General Council." The lecture occupied two hours in its delivery, and was listened to most attentively throughout. The invitation to the Episcopacy to meet the Sovereign Pontiff in council had been heard everywhere, over the whole earth, the lecturer said, and was everywhere being cordially responded to. An Ecumenical such as this will be, is the highest display of the power of the Church, the grandest exercise of its function in enacting laws useful and necessary for its government. The teachers and pastors will be there, animated in their deliberations by the spirit of God, and showing, in the highest sense, the virtue of their commission to feed the sheep and lambs of the flock, and demonstrating their inherent right to direct the universal Church. The charter of the Church is made up of great principles, and not of small formalities. Peter is the head provided for it by Christ; so there will be no need of electing a President to direct its deliberations when convened in council. The apostolic commission lasts forever, and the members of the living body of the Church bearing this commission will, on the 8th of December, be united with the head under the roof of the Vatican. Councils are not absolutely necessary for the successful government of the Church. Christ nowhere indicates that His teachings should be given to the world through these media. But, judged from a natural point of view, they are deserving of great respect, because they express the voice of the universal Church. What power could withstand the declaration of the Council of Nice, when it condemned ARIUS for denying the divinity of Christ? Eighteen Councils only have been Ecumenical—that is, representing the whole earth. It is true that God is with two or three assembled together in His name, and surely He is none the less likely to be present when the ecclesiastical representatives of the whole world are convened together for deliberation. These will come from countries where the Roman eagles were never heard of, from the old cities of Europe, from the prairies of the New World and from the islands of the sea. Were we to select a jury to which to submit any important question, nowhere could we get a body of men more free from bias, more celebrated for purity of life, for learning and sound judgment than this Council will be. They will assemble and discuss the questions submitted to them; but their conclusion will be an expression of power and authority such as could emanate from no other body of men, for the reason that they will be directed by the Holy Ghost. The reverend lecturer then spoke of the objects of the Council. Society is now diseased; the law of God has seemingly lost its hold on mankind, and a restlessness exists which threatens ruin to society. With the errors of the day, of every class and character, the Church will have to grapple. This Council will define lucidly and roll up with power what is true and laudable in all efforts at reform. The speaker closed by predicting that the best results would flow from the deliberations of the coming Council.

The Late Dr. Alexander H. Stevens.

At a meeting of the Island Hospital Medical Board, held on the 1st inst., the President, Dr. JAMES R. WOOD, announced the death of ALEXANDER H. STEVENS, M. D. LL.D. A committee was appointed, consisting of Drs. JAMES R. WOOD, AUSTIN FLINT and FRANK H. HAMILTON, to draft resolutions expressive of respect to the memory of the late Dr. ALEXANDER H. STEVENS. Dr. WOOD reported a series of resolutions, which were adopted, declaring that it becomes the Board to take official notice of the decease of Dr. STEVENS, not only in view of his distinguished relation to the profession at large, but especially from his connection with the early history of the charities of Blackwell's Island; recording an acknowledgment of his early and eminent services in the separation of disease from crime and pauperism, in the correction of abuses which their indiscriminate union had previously entailed, in the systematic direction of professional labor to the achievement of its legitimate results, and in the inauguration of the hospital system; and expressing admiration of the character, talents and attainments of the last of the great surgeons of this City of the preceding generation.

Extensive Fire in Monroe-street.

About 5 o'clock yesterday morning flames were discovered in the basement of the extensive premises Nos. 166, 168 and 170 Monroe-street, owned and occupied as an extension table manufactory by BROWN & BLISS. The alarm was promptly answered by the firemen, but their efforts to extinguish the flames proved abortive for some time, owing to the presence of a large quantity of combustible materials. The entire edifice and contents were destroyed, causing a loss of upward of $50,000 on building and stock. The firm are insured as follows: $11,250 on building, $18,750 on stock, $24,250 on machinery, and $17,000 on lumber—total, $71,250. The flames are supposed to be of accidental origin.

Other Fires.

A kerosene oil lamp exploded yesterday afternoon in the apartments of AUGUST SOMMERS, on the second floor of No. 407 Fifth-street; damage trifling. A slight fire occurred in a frame shanty in Fifty-Seventh-street, near Sixth-avenue, occupied by PATRICK MCGOVERN. The flames were occasioned by a stove-pipe in the roof and caused trifling damage. A fire occurred last evening in the apartments of JOHN BOLT, on the top floor of the premises No. 615 East Fourteenth-street, when only slight damage was occasioned. The origin of this fire is a mystery, as there was no alarm, no lamps lighted or fire in the stove. The occupant was insured for $600. The Fire Marshal has the case in hand.

Cricket.

The New-York Club will hold a meeting at Higham's, this week, on which occasion they will appoint their opening day. They will play on the cricket ground at the foot of Ninth-street, Hoboken, which the owners have concluded not to disturb until late in the Fall.

The Manhattan Club will also play on the Ninth-street ground, Hoboken, and will open play the same week the New-York Club does.

The Willow Club play their opening match at Bedford, on Saturday next, and the week following play Married vs. Single.

The St. George Club will play at Hudson City this season, and will open May 5.

River Thieves.

It will be remembered that one day last week thirteen hogsheads of tallow, the property of SMEDLEY & Co., were lost off the lighter which was transporting them from Fortieth-street, this City, to Hunter's Point. Four of the hogsheads were recovered the same day, but the balance floated away and were secured by the numerous river thieves that infest the port. By diligent search of the owner, aided by the Police, three more were discovered just as they were being sold from a truck in Greenwich-street, this City. The persons offering them for sale, among whom was an Ex-Councilman, were arrested. On Saturday the Police of Greenpoint succeeded in finding two more hogsheads stowed away in an out-of-the-way place where they had been carried in sacks by the thieves. Yesterday a hogshead, supposed to be one of three missing, was found at Hunter's Point; three hogsheads yet remain undiscovered. The river thieves along the shores of the Point and Astoria are becoming very numerous, and their boldness and daring call for prompt action on the part of the Metropolitan Police Board.

Snow in Maine.

From the Lewiston (Me.) Journal, April 16.

In Franklin County the roads are full of snow, and all the traveling is upon runners, though from the depth of the snow it is nearly impossible to get about. The ground has been covered uninterruptedly since the 8th of November, a period of 160 days. The oldest inhabitant has hardly experienced such a Winter. The cattle and sheep in many cases seem to be suffering from disease, the sheep particularly not being able to sustain their lambs. Many farmers attribute this to the fact of having been kept from the ground for so long a time. The snow remaining so long a time on the ground would afford the farmer a discouraging prospect, but for the fact that in the interior there is no frost in the ground, and work can be commenced as soon as the water dries from the surface.

THE NEW-YORK TIMES.

From the Iowa Sentinel.

THE NEW-YORK TIMES.—The prospectus of this great journal is published on our first page. More than seventeen years ago it set out on the uncertain newspaper sea as an experiment. The masterly abilities of its proprietor and chief editor, Hon. H. J. RAYMOND, soon took the TIMES out of the pale of experiment and planted it on the ground of success. From its small beginning nearly eighteen years ago, and which we well remember, it has grown to the highest stature of newspaper life and has long been a giant among giants. Republican in politics, but somewhat conservative, it is a healthy political regulator, and its influence is felt throughout the country.

From the Bridgeton (N. J.) Chronicle.

NEW-YORK TIMES.—We call the attention of our readers to the prospectus of the NEW-YORK TIMES in another column. The sound conservative character of this journal is too well known to need any panegyric from us. It was a steadfast supporter of the measures of the Government during the war, and in our judgment had a better corps of correspondents from the scene of hostilities than any of its New-York rivals. At the present time its course is marked by the exhibition of an evidently sincere and earnest effort to purify, or aid in purifying, so far as possible, State and National politics from the element of corruption and venality which for many years past has been poisoning the very sources of our prosperity. Every newspaper which ranges itself fearlessly upon the side of honest men against the thieves, deserves support, and prominent among these is the NEW-YORK TIMES.

From the Hudson Republican.

THE NEW-YORK TIMES.—We publish to-day the prospectus of the NEW-YORK DAILY TIMES, to which the attention of our readers is cheerfully called. The TIMES, under the editorial management of Hon. HENRY J. RAYMOND, has achieved a success in metropolitan journalism, of which it and the country may justly be proud. With its establishment, in 1851, and subsequent history our readers are doubtless familiar. At the present time it stands in the front rank of American newspapers, and exerts an influence politically and generally second perhaps to none in the country. Mr. RAYMOND is a writer of great and unquestioned ability, and is assisted by talent of the best order in every department of the paper. As a thoroughly American, outspoken and reliable daily journal of events at home and abroad, we commend the TIMES to all. It will be found fully up to the stand of its older competitors, if not in advance of them, in those particulars which render the paper desirable to subscribers in the country. The amount of reading matter now compressed within the pages of such a paper as the TIMES is something almost beyond belief. Every issue contains enough to fill a book of considerable size. The enterprise and expense required to gather from all quarters of the world and publish each day such a record of news, can hardly be estimated in figures. The Atlantic Cable dispatches are the latest marvel, and yet so accustomed have we become to reading yesterday's European news in our home journals that it has ceased to cause surprise. In typographical appearance the TIMES is now, we think, ahead of all its contemporaries. It is refreshing to read so clear a print, and to find such a careful and judicious arrangement of contents. The "Minor Topics" department continue to be a special feature, and is certainly a most entertaining one.

From the Watertown (Wis.) Democrat.

The NEW-YORK TIMES is the ablest of the independent Republican journals published in the great metropolis. It discusses all questions with vigor, candor and freedom, taking sensible and conservative views, and finding something good and evil in all parties. As a newspaper, it is unsurpassed in the industry and accuracy with which news from all parts of the world is collected and presented to its readers.

Extraordinary Improvements in Artificial Teeth.

From Watson's Weekly Art Journal.

Dr. M. LEVETT has always ranked among our first dentists, and dentistry owes much to his scientific researches; but his new invention of Suction Cellular Plate, combined with a reticulated gold web and base for artificial teeth, comes nearer to perfection than any we have seen. It is so light as hardly to be a weight in the hand, and is extremely elastic and strong. By a series of air-cells it is held immovable in the mouth, and is so small and compact that it does not interfere with speech or taste. It is the lightest, most cleanly and firmest denture that was ever put in the mouth, and consequently we commend it. No. 26 East 20th-st.—Advertisement.

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.

Friday closed one of the dullest weeks of the season. It opened poorly, and with the exception of one or two little spurts, continued very flat until the close. The sale of the Weyman estate, on Wednesday, was the best of the week. The property is well located on the Hudson River, Bloomingdale road, &c., was sold by order of the Supreme Court, and consequently was without reserve. The bidding was brisk, and the prices obtained very satisfactory. Except it, there were no particularly noticeable sales.

The sales for the week were as follows:

| | |
|---|---|
| New-York improved property | $777,200 |
| New-York unimproved property | 741,080 |
| Brooklyn improved property | 195,100 |
| Brooklyn unimproved property | 110,299 |
| Country property, including East New-York, Westchester County and Huntington, L. I. | 50,290 |
| New-York leased property | 10,500 |
| Total for the week | $1,884,469 |

The sales for the previous week were:

| | |
|---|---|
| New-York improved property | $1,429,225 |
| New-York unimproved property | 221,275 |
| Brooklyn improved property | 311,625 |
| Brooklyn unimproved property | 208,640 |
| Country property | 123,747 |
| New-York leased property | 69,400 |
| Total for the week ending April 10 | $2,363,912 |
| Total from April 1 to April 3 | $672,975 |
| Total for the week ending April 10 | 2,363,912 |
| Total for the week ending April 17 | 1,884,469 |
| Total for the month of January | 2,393,731 |
| Total for the month of February | 9,175,985 |
| Total for the month of March | 14,047,214 |
| Grand total | $30,538,286 |

A comparison shows the aggregate sales of the week just closed to be $479,443 less than those of the previous one, and the sales of that week were $252,735 less than those of the one preceding it. These facts, combined with the almost utter stagnation of the market, must be accepted, even by the most hopeful, as proof positive that the demand for City property has almost, if not entirely, ceased. For a time the severe monetary stringency was believed to be the great cause of the market's flatness, but that has passed and brought little or no relief. The market is just as much depressed and the sales quite as dull. The mistakes made in the earlier part of the season are daily becoming more and more apparent. The persons who purchased when the excitement was at its height, already see the errors they made, and in many instances find themselves, even at this early day, heavy losers. How their speculations will finally end it is difficult to conjecture. We long ago earnestly deprecated the prevailing practice of selling high-priced Boulevard, west-side and other up-town lots on the "favorable" terms at which they were generally offered, viz., 10 per cent cash and 60 per cent. or 70 per cent. on mortgage for three or five years. It was easy to foresee what the result would be, but it was impossible, for a long time, to convince the habitués of the salesroom that a change would speedily come, and that when it did come, the heavy buyers, unless they were men of large means and abundantly able to hold over until another season, would be obliged to resell the property and at ruinous rates. The feverish spirit of speculation seemed to have entire control of all; it was buy, buy, buy: property anywhere on New-York Island, it was shouted, must continue to increase in value for years to come. It was impossible to fix any limit; Boulevard and west-side lots particularly were supposed to be almost invaluable, and he who secured a dozen of them, no matter at what price, was looked upon as one of fortune's favorites. That day has passed; a change has come. A sober, serious spirit now pervades the salesroom, and the old-time extravagant prices can no more be obtained. The shrewd owners who sold property some few months ago, can now, in many instances, buy much of it back again, and pocket a handsome profit by the transaction. A large number of mortgages are being offered at rates of discount much greater than should be accepted, but the owners are property-poor, and must sell. The improvement in the money market within the past few days has given great satisfaction to these gentlemen, and raised in their breasts strong hopes that from the banks they may now obtain relief. Their hopes seem to be well founded, and it is quite probable that during the existing week the real estate market will also feel the benefits of this financial relaxation and show more firmness than it did last. The sales announced embrace a larger variety of country property than usual, and except the "Laton estate," consisting of sixty-seven lots near the new Riverside Drive and Park, First, Fourth and Eleventh avenues and Forty-sixth, Fifty-fourth and Fifty-sixth streets, to be sold on Wednesday by Messrs. MULLER, WILKINS & Co., contain very few unimproved City lots. As the demand for City lots decreases, the demand for country property increases, and it is fair to expect large audiences and good prices at the several sales of such property soon to take place, the particulars of which will be found in our advertising columns.

The sales for to-day are as follows:

Messrs. MULLER, WILKINS & Co. have an executor's sale of the property known as the Newtown Hotel, at Newtown, L. I., about 3½ miles distant from Hunter's Point, (Thirty-fourth-street Ferry.) The hotel property was formerly kept and owned by JACKSON HICKS, deceased, with 23⅜ lots of land, fronting on the Williamsburg Turnpike Drive and Newtown Turnpike. It is within fifteen minutes' walk of the Fashion Course, two minutes from the Flushing Railroad depot, nearly opposite the estate of SAMUEL S. LORD, and two miles from the town of Flushing. The southerly part has a frontage of about 320 feet on the popular Williamsburg drive. Also, by order of HENRIETTA MCLEAN, Executrix of HENRIETTA VAN DE WEILE, deceased, the three-story high-stoop brick house and lot No. 215 West Twenty-fourth-street; the four-story English basement brick house and lot No. 240 West Forty-third-street, west of Seventh-avenue: ten lots situate on the south side of Sixth-street, Brooklyn, commencing 86.8 feet west of Fifth-avenue, each 20x100 feet; these lots are near the Fourth-avenue Boulevard, which is 120 feet wide, and are, also within four blocks of Prospect Park; the two first-class four-story brown-stone-front houses and lots Nos. 128 and 130 East Thirty-seventh street, Murray Hill, commencing on the southwest corner of Thirty-seventh-street and Lexington-avenue; two lots of land, with the brick cottage and brick office thereon, situate Nos. 603 and 605 Hudson-street, opposite Abingdon-square; the lot of land, with the brick factory on the front, and the three-story and basement brick house on the rear, No. 9 Greenwich-avenue, and the lease of lot, together with the brick buildings on the rear thereof, situate No. 38 Trinity-place, between Rector and Thames-streets.

Mr. JAMES M. MILLER will sell the lot on northeast corner of Eighth-avenue and Forty-second-street, with three-story and basement frame house in front, and two-story and cellar frame house in rear, fronting on Forty-second-street; the valuable lot of land, with the improvements, No. 5 Ashland-place, Perry-street; No. 241 South-street, corner Pike-slip, with the four-story store covering the whole lot; No. 129 East Broadway, with three-story brick dwelling; the three-story attic back basement and front cellar dwelling, No. 6 Georck-street; the two-story attic and basement brick house, No. 253 Delancey-street. Also, in Brooklyn, the two four-story basement and sub-cellar brick dwelling-houses known as Nos. 91 and 95 Gold-street, between Front and Water streets, and the two-story frame house, known as the River House, on the southeast corner of Meeker and Gardiner avenues.

To-morrow Messrs. A. J. BLEECKER, SON & Co. have their first country sale, consisting of 150 choice building lots; also, the house and barn, and about four acres of land, on Clinton-avenue, adjoining the residence of E. P. SANGER, Esq., at Plainfield, N. J. The property is on high, dry and healthy ground. The soil is a rich sandy loam, adapted especially to fruit and garden vegetables. The surroundings are owned by such parties as will insure the erection of none but first-class residences. A special train will start from the foot of Liberty-street at 12 M. on the day of sale. Maps and may be had on application to the auctioneers. The same day, Messrs. MULLER, WILKINS & Co. will sell at the salesroom about eleven and a half acres of land at Garrison's, on the Hudson, opposite West Point, and Messrs. E. H. LUDLOW & Co. will sell valuable property in Central Morrisania, Mount Vernon, West Mount Vernon, Central Mount Vernon and Washingtonville, Westchester County, N. Y.

SEALED PROPOSALS will be received at this Department until May 31, at 3 o'clock P. M., for furnishing envelopes for the official use of Postmasters during a period of two years from the 1st of July, 1869. The estimated number of envelopes that will be required annually is as follows:

Class No. 5, 300,000, more or less, 4½ by 10⅜ inches.

For Class No. 1, an ordinary quality of buff or yellow paper will answer. The other classes to be made from red, blue, green and buff or cream-colored paper, as may be required, of approved quality.

All the above-described envelopes must be made in the most thorough manner, well gummed for sealing upon the entire length of the flap, and must have such printing upon the face as may be directed by the Postmaster-General. They must be banded in parcels of twenty-five, packed in pasteboard or straw boxes; each to contain not less than 250 envelopes of letter size, and 100 each of extra letter, official, and extra official sizes, separately, or otherwise, as may be required; the boxes to be wrapped in strong paper, so as to bear transportation by mail for delivery to Postmasters. When required to be delivered at the Department, such wrapping will be dispensed with.

When 3,000 or more envelopes are required to fill the order of a Postmaster, they must be put up in strong wooden boxes and properly addressed; but when less than 3,000 are required, proper labels of direction must be placed upon each package by the contractor; the whole to be done under the direction of an agent of the Department.

The envelopes must be furnished in such quantities as may from time to time be required to fill orders of Postmasters or by the Department, and be delivered either at the Post Office in the city where the accepted bidder resides, or at the envelope agency, or at this Department, as the Postmaster-General may direct, free of cost for packing.

SWINDLING ENTERPRISE.

An Anxious Hardware Merchant in Connecticut who Desires to Send Two-foot Rules to Mexico—He has an Order for Some Saws and Other Things.

One of the men who holds to the axiom that the world owes him a living has recently been operating with the view of enriching himself at the expense of New-York tradesmen. His general base of operations is Connecticut, and his special headquarters are at Norwalk and Milford. His latest anxiety, as evinced by his manifold orders to hardware merchants in this city, appears to be for two-foot brass-bound boxwood rules, to fill an order which he has pending for Mexico. He would send the money along with the orders, but he does not know the prices, so it would aid him in the future considerably to have a list of prices sent along with the first invoice of rules. That the reader may comprehend the case more fully, the following copy of the order of the genius alluded to is furnished:

CHARLES H. BALLARD,
Manufacturer of Firearms.
ARMORY, Milford, Conn., April 12, 1869.

GENTLEMEN: Please send me by Adams Express, to be packed for shipment to Mexico, one dozen carpenters' boxwood two-foot brass-bound rules, narrow. Please also send bill, and I will remit immediately on receipt. I have no idea as to what they will cost, and therefore inclose the necessary amount. I am continually receiving orders for hardware of different kinds, and sometimes experience great difficulty in procuring what my customers want. I wish therefore you would send me a price list if you have one, and state whether you are prepared to fill orders for all kinds of hardware without any delay. I can just as well remit the necessary funds with each order if I know how much to send. An early answer will oblige, as I have an order now for some saws and other things which I will be ready to pack on Saturday.

Very truly, CHAS. H. BALLARD.

Exact copies of the foregoing order were received by THOMAS CHALMERS & Co., No. 92 John-street, CREED & RAYMOND, No. 18 Platt-street, and other hardware dealers in the City, all dated the same. Mr. CREED and Mr. RAYMOND received their orders separately, a circumstance that excited suspicion. But the principal cause for suspecting the orthodoxy of the orders of the non-come-at-able BALLARD had its origin at the office of the rule manufacturer, where there was a concentration of inquiries for rules of the exact description, and quantities the same. The rule-maker was curious to know where the articles were going, and found that they were all going to a man in Connecticut, who assumed the name of Ballard at Milford and Remington at Norwalk. The orders were then compared, when the discovery was made that not only the phraseology was almost alike, but that the handwriting was precisely the same on all of them. Orders under the heading: "EDGAR REMINGTON, Manufacturer of Firearms, Armory, Norwalk, Conn.," bearing date of April 8, it was ascertained, had been sent to CLARK, WILSON & Co., No. 81 Beekman-street; G. W. ALBURTUS, No. 95 John-street; SERGEANT & Co., No. 70 Beekman-street, and others, informing them that EDGAR REMINGTON would be "ready to pack on Monday or Tuesday." Of course, these revelations put a stop to all operations on the part of the hardware men so far as Mr. BALLARD, of Milford, and Mr. REMINGTON, of Norwalk, were concerned. There was no doubt felt that BALLARD and REMINGTON were the same individual, and that his intention was not to "remit" the necessary amounts for the rules "so ordered." The Adams Express office at Norwalk, it appears, revealed the fact that a large number of merchants had been all but swindled, having saved themselves by the "collect on delivery" device. At that point there was a large number of packages for Mr. REMINGTON, but when he called for them he selected only those that were not marked "C. O. D.," and took them away with him, promising to return them for the others when more had arrived, on which occasion he would take them all together. The names BALLARD and REMINGTON were doubtless assumed by the Connecticut correspondent to impress the merchants with the idea of the "Remington Firearms Manufactory" and the "Ballard Firearms Manufactory."

As the enterprising gentleman is now under the watchful eye of several vigilant detectives, it is not improbable that in a short time he will be brought to justice. At all events, his trade is now or will soon be most effectually stopped.

The Prospect Park Fair Ground.

The new Club-house of the Prospect Park Fair Ground Association is now nearly completed. It is located on the Ground, near the Coney Island road, and presents a fine appearance. It is one hundred feet front, fifty feet deep, and four stories in height, including the basement story. In front of each of the floors runs an immense piazza, ten feet wide, completely around the building, making a handsome promenade of three hundred feet on each floor, while over the main entrance this piazza extends forty feet by fifty from the main building, making a beautiful place for dancing in Summer. The building is covered with a handsome Mansard roof, surmounted by a cupola, from which a fine view of the surrounding country, as far as the eye can reach, can be obtained. The building is approached by a broad and massive flight of steps. The hallways and principal rooms in the building will be lighted by twenty-one-light chandeliers, and gas will be manufactured on the premises, but whether from coal or kerosene, has not yet been determined on. When completed the entire building will not have cost less than $70,000. The Grand Stand, which is situated near the Club-house, is also required to be ready by the 20th of May, and the work is being prosecuted rapidly. It will be 175 feet long and 45 deep, and will have two tiers of seats, each tier having incline enough to give every one a full view of the track. The seats will be divided into sections divided by aisles, as in a church, and there will be, it is calculated, accommodation for 4,000 people. Four hundred open sheds and four hundred double-locked sheds are also being built, and on the north side of the grounds, the stables of the Association are being built. These are three in number, and will have comfortable accommodations for sixty horses, the stalls being ten feet wide by fifty feet long.

Queens County Robberies.

Queens County appears to be the field of labor of almost every thief and burglar in the State at present, robberies are so numerous. People had barely time to recover from the shock occasioned by an account of the highway robbery perpetrated on Mrs. JAMES MARTINS, of Saysville, whereby she lost property valued at about $200, when the news was circulated on Friday last, that on the preceding night the premises of Mr. EDWIN POWELL at Whitstone, had been entered and a valuable horse and wagon, together with a set of harness and several hams stolen. On the same night a shoe-store in the village was broken open and property valued at some hundreds of dollars stolen. Long Island City has also suffered considerably from the rogues.

A few weeks ago a young man, calling himself the son of a minister, took up his residence in the boarding-house of Mrs. PAYNE, at that place. For the first week after entering the house his conduct was all that could be desired. For the past few days, however, he had been quite irregular in his habits, and on Friday night he took his departure, taking with him several valuable suits of clothes belonging to DANIEL LESTER and JAMES THOMPSON, boarders in the house. Several articles of costly jewelry were also stolen. On Saturday night last a gentleman named WHISTERS, while on his way from East New-York to Cypress Hills, was knocked down and robbed of $5, all the money he had in his pocket. It is supposed that all these robberies have been committed by members of one gang, and the Police are using their best efforts to discover and break it up.

The Fourth Anniversary of the Temperance Corps.

The fourth annual meeting of the Temperance Corps took place last evening at the Church of the Pilgrims in West Forty-eighth-street. Rev. S. A. BAKER presided. The services were opened by the singing of a temperance hymn and religious services.

Rev. Dr. BAKER called attention to a petition that would be circulated among the community for the purpose of obtaining signatures to protest against the repeal of the Excise law.

The Secretary, Rev. Dr. HOLTON, read the annual report, which contained an interesting account of the lives and death of Rev. Drs. MARSH and JOY.

An election for officers took place, with the following result: Rev. Seymour A. Baker, President; R. T. Trall, M. D., Colonel John Danforth, Arad Joy, Esq., Vice-Presidents; Joseph W. Richards, M. D., Treasurer; David Parsons Holton, M. D., Secretary.

After the singing of a hymn Rev. Dr. BAKER pronounced a benediction, and the meeting adjourned.

Presentation to Assessor Webster of the Thirty-second District.

The Assistant Assessors of the Thirty-second District, (New-York,) on Saturday, presented the Assessor, Mr. E. D. WEBSTER, (who is about retiring from office,) with a token of their esteem in the shape of a large and beautiful album, containing their photographs. Mr. WEBSTER was surprised in his office, and when presented with the gift by Mr. A. N. LEWIS, he was completely overcome by his feelings, and unable to respond for a few moments. He replied briefly, thanking the gentlemen for this evidence of their regard, expressing his kindliest feelings toward them, and assuring them that the gift would always be highly prized by him as a remembrance of the faithful friends and assistants by whom he had been surrounded. Mr. JAS. WADSWORTH followed in a few remarks expressive of esteem for Mr. WEBSTER, after which the affair terminated.

Juvenile Shooting Affray.

Officer HUTCHINSON, of the Eighth Precinct, arrested ISAAC HATCH, a colored boy, on Saturday, as he was running through Laurens-street, followed by a crowd of people. He subsequently ascertained that HATCH had shot another boy named JAMES MADISON, of No. 57 Thompson- [illegible] up for trial by order of Justice DODGE. He is a bootblack, a native of South Carolina, and resides at No. 211 West Eighteenth-street.

A DESPERATE ENCOUNTER.

Bloody Affray in the Eighth Ward—The Larkin Gang Again at Work—A Man Stabbed and Perhaps Murdered.

A most desperate affray occurred about 1 o'clock yesterday morning in the saloon kept by a man named PAGE, on the corner of West and Spring streets, when DAVID O'DAY and other members of what is known as the "Larkin crowd" became participants, one of them being severely and dangerously wounded. As the injured man, one JAMES NELSON, was considered in a critical condition, Coroner FLYNN was notified, and proceeded to hold an ante-mortem examination in the case, eliciting the following evidence:

James Nelson, of No. 202 Wooster-st., testified that he was unable to say whether he would recover from the wounds he had received or not, and proceeded to make the following statement: This morning, about one o'clock, I was in company with David O'Day in Page's [illegible] while struggling with him I was cut on the head by some one unknown to me; after being cut I broke away from Maher, and we clinched again, and I received two cuts on the right side; I cannot say positively whether Maher stabbed me or not; finding myself wounded again I broke away and went up to the other end of the bar, when some other man who was present, and who I do not know, rushed at me and struck at me twice; I felt myself wounded each time he struck at me; after this man stabbed me he ran toward the door; a police officer named O'Neill came just then, and I pointed out the man to him, saying, "That man has cut me;" it appears that he did not arrest my assailant; I was then carried to the Station-house, where my wounds were dressed by a surgeon.

David O'Day, of No. 111 Charlton-street, testified: This morning, near 1 o'clock, I and George Green, in company with James Nelson, went into Page's saloon to have a drink; William Maher was present, and several other men were in the bar-room when we entered; soon afterward Nelson and William Maher began a dispute, and from words they proceeded to clinch with one another near the screen; while they were struggling I heard Nelson cry out, "I'm stabbed!" there was no person near the two at the time; seeing that Nelson was cut, I got a club from the barkeeper and struck Maher; Maher again closed with Nelson, when Nelson again threw up his hands, exclaiming, "I am stabbed! I am gone!" I then noticed that he was cut in the face, and asked him if he was cut in the body, and he replied that he was; at this time Officer O'Neill came in and arrested us all, and took us to the station-house.

John Williams, of the corner of King and Greenwich streets, testified: Between twelve and one o'clock this morning I went to Page's saloon with James Nelson and David O'Day; while there Maher and Nelson began a dispute, and clinched with one another; there was no person near them at the time I heard Nelson cry out that he was stabbed; I saw Maher strike at Nelson several times; Nelson was badly wounded; we were then all arrested.

The jury rendered the following verdict:

"That JAMES NELSON came to his wounding at the hands of WILLIAM MAHER, on the morning of the 18th of April, 1869, in PAGE'S saloon, corner of West and Spring streets, by the knife."

The Coroner committed MAHER to the Tombs to await the result of NELSON'S wounds. He is not known much to the Police, is a carpenter, and resides at No. 301 West-street. The witness O'DAY was rendered very prominent in the Larkin tragedy, as he was one of the gang when the affray took place in HUGH CAMPBELL'S saloon, in Canal-street, on the 25th of last November.

Base Ball.

This afternoon the first regular match of the season will take place in this vicinity, and the occasion is to be made noteworthy by the first appearance of the Atlantic Nine for 1869 in a match, their opponents being the nine of the Alpha Club, of Brooklyn, a very good playing Club. The Independents will organize soon, and the Mohawks also. The Atlantics have mustered in strong force on their practice days, and have had several enjoyable exercise games.

Highway Robbery.

About 3 o'clock yesterday morning, as WM. H. DOWNING, of No. 654 Third-avenue, was passing up the Bowery in a state of partial intoxication, he was accosted by JOHN DUNN, who says he is a blacksmith working in Twenty-sixth-street, who persisted in forcing himself upon DOWNING, and entered the same car with him to go up Third-avenue. While in the car, a dispute arose respecting the fare, DUNN insisting that DOWNING should pay for both. DOWNING, at length, sought to escape from his troublesome friend, and got off the car at Eighteenth-street, being followed by DUNN as far as Fourth-avenue, when the latter seized his victim by the coat-collar and threatened him with violence unless he gave up what money he had in his possession. DOWNING being, as he avers, in fear of his life, complied with the demand and gave his assailant $75 in money. Before the fellow could escape Officer REED, of the Eighteenth Precinct, who heard the cry of alarm given by DOWNING, ran up and arrested him. Justice DODGE, at Jefferson Market Police Court, held DUNN for trial without bail.

Disappointed Burglars.

Some time during Saturday night a gang of burglars entered the office of F. J. PARKER, auctioneer, on the second floor of No. 107 Wall-street. They forced open the safe, after considerable trouble, and succeeded in gaining possession of a few worthless papers, and no doubt abandoned their enterprise in utter disgust. The entrance to the premises was gained through the front door with false keys, and the office door was forced open. When one of the occupants returned at 11 o'clock, he found the street door open and informed the Police, when the burglary was discovered for the first time.

ALLEGED BURGLARS.

Michael Kilcauley, of No. 88 Montgomery-street, Jersey City, a detective officer employed on the New-Jersey Central Railroad, received information, on Saturday afternoon, to the effect that three burglars were coming in on the early train. He accordingly watched in the depot, and saw Wm. Crane and James Henry get off the cars, in company with James Griffin, the notorious bond robber, who, by his own confession, was engaged in the Royal Insurance bond robbery. The three men were evidently familiar with each other. The detective followed them on board the ferry-boat, as he had no assistance to aid him in making an arrest. On reaching the New-York side, Kilcauley called on Officers Thompson and Archer, of the Twenty-seventh Precinct, who arrested all three of the accused. In possession of Crane was found a leather bag containing two pairs of handcuffs, a can of gun-powder, a roll of fuse, a pair of false whiskers, a common bit, two dark-lanterns, a pair of rubber overalls, a strap, a tin powder-funnel, three pairs of India-rubber shoes, a bottle of oil, a pair of cotton gloves and a pair of stockings. On Crane's person was also found a pair of nippers and a pistol. Henry was found in possession of a large clasp-knife, a pocket-compass, a rule, a file and two balls of wax, as well as a revolver. Griffin had only a revolver on his person. The prisoners were arraigned before the Magistrate yesterday morning, and on the complaint of the New-Jersey Detective, they were remanded to await the action of the New-Jersey authorities. This man Griffin is a most notorious scamp, and the Police aver that since he has become a witness for the people in the case of Dan Noble, accused of having "put up" the Royal Insurance bond robbery, he has become very bold, seeming to believe that he has a carte blanche for any amount of villainy, hoping to escape, as he has already in one instance, through the efforts of those who wish to use him as State evidence. He no sooner reached the court-room than he impudently demanded his rights for an examination, and to receive advice from counsel. As the case stands the prisoners will gain their liberty, as there is no law under which they can be tried for the possession of burglars' tools in the daytime. An effort will be made to get sufficient evidence to connect the accused with the series of burglaries recently committed on the line of the New-Jersey Central Railroad.

LARCENIES FROM THE PERSON.

Henry Segelken, residing in Greenwich-street, appeared in Court yesterday morning, and made a complaint of larceny against Thomas Britt, who had been arrested at his instance. It appears that the two were sitting together in an oyster saloon near Segelken's residence, on Saturday, when Britt was seen by John Timmerman to steal the complainant's silver watch from his vest pocket. The prisoner denied his guilt, but was held for trial.

John Kelly stopped John Keegan, of No. 873 Second-avenue, in the Bowery, at 4 o'clock yesterday morning, and by dint of threats and violent means took seventy-five cents from his victim's pocket. Kelly was soon after taken into custody, and when brought before the Magistrate was fully committed for trial at the Special Sessions.

James Colgan, a stranger in the City, met Eliza Schriner in the street, and accompanied her to the oyster saloon on the corner of Chatham and Duane streets. While there together Eliza took possession of $10, the property of the credulous James, and ran off with it. She was, however, arrested and committed for trial at the Special Sessions. The complainant was sent to the House of Detention.

Essex Market—Shandley, Justice.

SNEAK THIEF.

Andrew Mangen entered the store of Max Lahmann, at No. 286 East Fourth-street, on Saturday, during the temporary absence of the proprietor, when he gained access to the till and stole $60 in money. Being subsequently arrested he confessed his guilt and restored $36. The Magistrate granted a full commitment.

JUVENILE STREET THIEF.

Herman Robeick, aged 12 years, met Ellen Grote in Ridge-street, near her residence, on Saturday evening, when he incontinently seized her pocket-book, which Mrs. Grote carried in her hand. An alarm being given the young rascal was apprehended, the pocket-book, which only contained seventy-five cents, being found in his possession. Robeick was locked up for trial.

STEALING SILVER WARE.

A few days ago Edward Combs, Thomas Simms and Charles Latimer entered the store of James H. Redfield, at No. 4 Maiden-lane, and stole thirty dozen silver-plated spoons, valued at $150. Combs was arrested soon after the larceny had been committed, and locked up on a temporary commitment, the other two escaping arrest until Saturday. When the trio were arraigned before the Magistrate yesterday the Police testified that they had found pawn tickets representing the plunder, in the possession of the accused, and as they confessed their guilt they were remanded for trial.

Jefferson Market—Dodge, Justice.

ASSAULTING AN OFFICER.

Officer Robert C. Rahle, of the Eighth Ward, arrested Charles Dennis, on Saturday, for disorderly conduct. While on the way to the Station-house the prisoner changed the complexion of his case by assaulting the officer, for which offence he was fully committed for trial in the Special Sessions.

THE FARO BANK CASE.

James Smith, the alleged proprietor of a gambling saloon at No. 123 West-Tenth-street, whose arrest was mentioned in yesterday's TIMES, was arraigned before the Court yesterday morning. He was required to find bail for his appearance on trial, and as there was no evidence against the eighteen other prisoners arraigned, they were discharged from custody.
